NO BONUS NOW;
LOAD TOO BIG,
HARDING SAYSSenate Told to Speed
Relief for Needy.(By Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., July 12.—(Special.)—President Harding went before Congress today and urged it to defer the pending soldiers' bonus bill for an indefinite period.

Hoping to add the caution which has characterized his attitude toward the bonus in the past, the president stood before his former colleagues and bluntly characterized the measure as a "mammoth effort to expend billions in gratuities."

He painted the government's financial outlook in dark colors and frankly declared the enactment of the bonus not only would make tax reduction impossible, but would "greatly imperil the financial stability of our country."

Bonus Means Hardships.
"I know the feelings of my own heart and that of yours and the grateful people of this republic," the president said. "But no thoughtful person possessed with all the facts, is ready to add compensation for the healthy, arduous masses of our great army at the cost of a treasury breakdown which will bring its hardships to all citizens of the republic."

Mr. Harding specifically asked the Senate to recommit the bonus bill to the Finance Committee. He ventured a prediction when conditions might again warrant resumption of the measure beyond saying that tax reduction, refunding of the war debt, and adjustment of our foreign loans must be settled "before adding to our treasury any such burden as is contemplated in the pending bill."

Firm for Aid to Cripples.
While he spoke in this emphatic manner against passing the bonus now, Mr. Harding declared in unmistakable language for the fullest measure of relief to the disabled veterans of the world war.

He flatly contradicted charges that the nation has neglected its defenders and recited an impressive array of figures to show what the government has expended for veterans' relief.

Although he suggested concentration on tax and tariff revision, the president did not ask the exclusion of all other legislation. Neither did he suggest that Congress take a recess, as he proposed when he conferred with Senators last week at the Capitol.

Spurs Congress on Tax Laws.
Attempting to accelerate action on tax revision especially, Mr. Harding frankly told the Senate that "there is confessed disappointment that so little progress has been made in the reduction and reduction of the war time tax."

Mr. Harding was received with vigorous handclapping when he entered the Senate chamber. He was not interrupted while he delivered his message, but when he concluded there was applause on both sides of the chamber. The galleries were well filled. Mrs. Harding occupied one of the seats reserved for the president's family.

It was generally conceded after the president's address that the bonus bill was dead, so far as the present session is concerned. The moment Mr. Harding departed from the Senate chamber Senator Penrose, chairman of the Finance Committee, arose and moved to recommit the bill. He assured the Senate that the bill would receive early attention from the committee.

Democrats Begin Fight.
Democratic Senators promptly launched a furious attack upon the recommending motion, Senator Robinson, Arkansas, assuming leadership in lieu of Senator Underwood, who is opposed to the bonus.

"Let no one be deceived," he said. "If this motion prevails the bill is dead, not only for this session but for many years to come."

Senator King, Utah, Democrat, praised the president for his courageous action. Senator McKellar, Tennessee, characterized the president's action as "very improper."

Debate on the recommending motion is expected to continue for several days, but no filibuster is looked for.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

Washington, D. C., July 12.—President Harding's address to the Senate concerning the "adjusted compensation" (bonus act) follows:

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate:

There has come to my attention the pending unfinished business before the Senate, and it is an imperative duty to call your attention to it.

London Crowd
Cheers Erin's
Peace Envoy

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, July 12.—Cheering crowds numbering thousands of London's Irishmen and women greeted Eamon de Valera and the other members of the Irish peace delegation on their arrival at Euston station, London, this afternoon. The Irish republican flag waved and Irish songs were sung while London policemen cleared the way for the men who have been fighting Great Britain for three years. They were escorted to automobiles which whisked them off to the Governor hotel, which will be their headquarters during their stay in the British capital.

The delegation, besides Mr. de Valera, consisted of Arthur Griffith, Austin Stack and Robert Dutton. Accompanying them were Lawrence O'Neill, lord mayor of Dublin; Count Plunkett, member of the Dail Eireann; E. J. Connelley, Sinn Fein minister of public works; and Miss O'Connell, Mrs. de Valera's secretary.

Friends Mob Delegates.
It was with the utmost difficulty the police cleared the way for De Valera. The Irish leader was almost torn to pieces by the crowd trying to shake his hands and police had to pull enthusiastic Irishmen off the roof of his automobile. Griffith and the others received almost as warm a welcome.

The stage is all set now for the dramatic meeting in Downing street Thursday. It is expected Mr. Lloyd George will receive the Irish delegation in the cabinet room. He will be accompanied by Gen. Jan Smuts, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Lord Birkenhead, and Arthur Balfour.

Senate Permanent Chairman.
The premier probably will preside at the first meeting, with Gen. Smuts vice chairman, who will later take the chair permanently. Both De Valera and Griffith refused to give out a statement tonight except to say they were not committed to any particular program.

All along the route from Holyhead crowds greeted the delegates wherever the train stopped and tried to shake hands with them.

According to word from Dublin the truce is being strictly observed in Ireland. Fifteen minutes before the truce began two policemen were wounded in Killarney during an attack on a police barracks by thirty rebels, who stopped attacking two minutes before the hour set for the truce.

ORANGE DAY CELEBRATED.
BELFAST, July 12.—By the Associated Press.—Nearly 40,000 Orangemen took part in the Twelfth of July demonstration here today in celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

Today's procession, in which there were many bands and huge drums, occupied three hours passing a fixed point. The leading figure was Sir James Craig, who arrived from England this morning.

Sir James, speaking at Finaghy, gave his reasons for accepting the invitation of Premier Lloyd George.

"First," he declared, "if we did not go to the conference, we would be misrepresented behind our backs. We would have nobody to say a word for us."

Second, we are a small community on the face of the earth, and foreign countries, as well as our own dominions, would misconstrue Ulster if we stayed aside. She would be condemned in her absence and told 'you would not go to the conference; therefore you must be ruled out of court.'"

Third, it gets into the minds, even of some of our friends, that we have something to give away. While I and my colleagues are there, there will be nothing to give away. Therefore, while it is distasteful to many of us, we are not going to flinch from what we consider our duty to the well-being of our own people in the north."

WEARS PEEKABOO
WAIST IN ZION;
FINED BY 12 MEN!

Mrs. Sarah Johnson, 19 and pretty, who lives in Winthrop Harbor and is employed in Marshall Field's lace factory at Zion City, won't wear peekaboo waists to work any more. She was found guilty yesterday of violating Wilbur Glenn Voliva's ordinance on women's dress. Among the provisions of the ordinance is a ban on "exposing the arms above the middle forearm and the neck and shoulders lower than the juncture of the neck with the collarbone."

Mrs. Johnson's case was heard by Justice W. E. Schumacher and a jury of twelve men. Theodore Forby, city attorney of Zion, was prosecutor; Charles Baublen of Waukegan appeared for the defendant. Mrs. Johnson was fined $5 and costs. It is expected that the case will be appealed.

HUSBAND ASKS
POLICE TO SEEK VANISHED WIFE

Albert C. Force, 1301 Hood avenue, dealer in railroad equipment, last night asked the police to search for his wife, Clara M. Force, who had left home carrying a black suitcase.

She had been suffering from a nervous breakdown, and had often expressed the wish lately that she could do some charitable work, join a charitable organization, or some thing of that sort. Mr. Force believes she may have gone to some institution.

She was dressed in a black silk skirt, black waist, black pumps, and stockings, and wore a black hat. The black suitcase bore her initials, C. M. F. She is 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, and has brown hair and gray eyes.

"WHITE COLLAR
UNION" LAUNCHED
AT RALLIES HERE

Formation of a "white collar" union of citizens of the so-called "middle class" is under way in Chicago as part of a movement starting in thirteen states.

The first ten neighborhood meetings, to be climaxed soon with a mass-meeting in the Auditorium theater, was held yesterday at 4044 Sheridan street. Dr. Charles F. Gilman spoke. As president of the Federation of Professions and Business of New York, he led the recent tenants' fight for rent laws in that state.

"We must get back to the competitive state of doing business in this country," he declared. "We are joining the retailers and independent manufacturers in a great national union. Not until the membership of our middle class organization equals that of the labor unions will we consent to affiliate with labor."

WARE SEER AND
HIS PHRENOSCOPE

He Sees Your Diaphragm and Knows All!

(Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.) (Copyright, 1921.)

PARIS, July 12.—Palmyrist, phrenology, graphology, and all other sciences by which these experts in them can arrive at estimates of character are at best partial affairs. The only perfect way of telling character is by phrenoscopy.

Its principal and possibly its only exponent is Dr. Maingot of this city, who in his laboratory, which is rigged up with devices like a medieval torture chamber, can tell the character of a baby or a centenarian.

Breathing "Tells All."
"I need only to see how you breathe," he says, "to know all about you."

For phrenoscopy is the science of breathing. It is thus that Dr. Maingot expounds his theory and practice.

"Phrenoscopy" is a radioscopic method by which one is able to examine carefully the diaphragm, from which can be easily deduced the salient facts of the character of the subject without the least possibility of deception.

The Tell Tale Diaphragm.
"In the face, in the handwriting, in the shape of the head, one can see certain elements of character, but the radioscopic picture of the movement of the diaphragm is the surest method of all. The reason for this is that one breathes according to one's character, and no one can alter his method of breathing except as he alters his character."

"With the first breath the infant shows the traits that will mark him for life, and with his last breath man shows what sort of person he was in his life."

MOTHER FIGHTS
TO REGAIN CHILD
ONCE GIVEN UP

The boy was born five years ago with a name.

His father was a traveling salesman who makes his home in St. Paul, it is said, and his mother was a divorced woman, resident of St. Paul.

The boy was given to his father, the mother asking only that the man adopt her son and raise him. The father did adopt the child, but as he could not care for him he placed him in St. Vincent's infant asylum.

Three years ago Mr. and Mrs. James Caul of 5438 South Union avenue found him. They adopted him after serving notice by publication.

The mother of the boy is now the wife of Alfred Frankenstein, 17 South Karlov avenue, a wealthy interior decorator. And Frankenstein has engaged Attorney Hugh A. Caperton to get back the boy. He declares he will spend $5,000 if necessary to accomplish that object.

The Cauls are determined to keep their "son." The real mother has never seen him, they declare, since she gave him away, and she cannot have him now.

The Frankenstein and the Cauls will appear before Judge Pam tomorrow. It is stated the mother and father declare they had never been notified of the second adoption.

BANKER GIVES NEW LEADS IN
SMALL INQUIRYPackers to Testify
Today on Loan.

Springfield, Ill., July 12.—[Special.]—A promising new lead was found today by the Sangamon county grand jury which is investigating the interest earnings of the last three state treasurers.

The haste and secrecy with which the recent was followed indicates that the investigators expect to find highly important information. The "lead" apparently came from Norman Griffin, cashier of the Grant Park Trust and Savings bank, because immediately following his testimony subpoenas were issued for several residents of Kankakee, including an official of Gov. Len Small's bank in that city.

No intimation has heretofore been given that any official of Small's home town bank had any information whatever regarding the $10,000,000 transaction under investigation. The nature of the expected testimony and how this bank official happened to get such information are closely guarded as secrets of the grand jurors.

Packers' Disclosures Today.
Of equal importance probably is the promise of the packers that they will disclose their records to the grand jury tomorrow. These are expected to show:

1. From whom they obtained the $10,000,000 of state money.

2. The commissions paid, if any, for the money.

3. The interest rate and any other fees paid.

4. The name of the person or institution who received the interest money.

5. The exact character of the receipt given by him, or it for the interest.

6. The person or institution which renewed the notes, with the terms and conditions.

7. The arrangement made to take up the notes.

To Show Canceled Checks.
In addition the representatives of the packers are expected to exhibit canceled checks, showing the interest payments, the banks upon which the checks were drawn, their course through the clearing house, and the final payment to the person or institution receiving the interest.

States Attorney C. Fred Mortimer received a telephonic promise this afternoon from Fred W. Crowell, treasurer of Armour &amp; Co., that he would be on hand with books, records, receipts, checks, and memoranda tomorrow.

W. W. Sherman, assistant treasurer of Swift &amp; Co., arrived in Springfield tonight and will appear before the grand jury tomorrow instead of L. A. Carlton, treasurer, for whom a subpoena was issued. Mr. Sherman said: "I will answer all questions as fully and as truthfully as I can. That is all I can say. I have no idea what information is wanted."

The interest payments disclosed by the packers will indicate who were the holders of the notes and probably later witnesses will tell how these notes came into the alleged possession of Gov. Small who is said to have turned them over to State Treasurer Miller.

Loan to Swift Director.
The Armour notes are said to have been purchased by the "Grant Park bank" from the Fort Dearborn National bank, while the state funds were loaned to Swift & Co. direct but without the company's officials being aware there were state funds. The amount of state funds advanced on Armour notes is said to have been $5,500,000, on Swift notes, $4,500,000.

The grand jurors' decision not to call Verne S. Curtis of Grant Park, as originally planned, excited comment. He is a brother of the late Ed C. Curtis, who was an official of the Grant Park Trust and Savings bank. Ed Curtis was a political confidant of Small's for many years, a neighbor banker, and was one time speaker of the Illinois house of representatives. He was a member of the constitutional convention last year, was a candidate for its chairmanship, and died during its sessions.

Jurors Hold Short Session.
Because of the decision of the jurors not to hold long sessions the investigation will not be concluded on Thursday as forecast, but will run along until Saturday and possibly into next week.

Today the hearing was concluded shortly after 3 o'clock, the testimony of only two witnesses being taken. Most of the jurors are farmers who are in the midst of their thrashing season.

State Treasurer Miller took the stand again this morning and did not complete his testimony until noon. He

60,000 CITY LIGHTS
SNUFFED BY STRIKE;
BACK ON BY MIDNIGHT

SOME sections of the city were still dark at 1 o'clock this morning or later as a result of the city electrical workers' strike, which began at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was settled at 10:10 at night. Many of the strikers refused to "turn on the juice" until told to do so by "Boss" Knott, their business agent.

Some electrical distributing stations couldn't be reached by phone and the chief ordered the police to act as messengers.

The first light was turned on from the 39th street station at 10:20 o'clock. At 11 o'clock the lights snapped on in the loop, at 11:35 they blossomed north of the river, and at 11:40 they illuminated Ravenswood once more.

The districts to the far northwest, the far west, Pullman, Burnside, Washington Heights, and Kensington were still in the dark at 1 o'clock.

The lights sprung up on the south side at 11:40 o'clock, in Englewood at 11, and in South Chicago at 11:30.

There are 62,000 lights in the city. At midnight 60,000 were burning.

ASK ARREST OF WOMAN HOLDING
'ROOSEVELT NOTE'Gotham Police Wire
"It's a Forgery."

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—Inspector Coughlin, head of the detective bureau, today telegraphed the police of Hilldale, Ind., to arrest Mrs. Emma Richardson Burdett on a charge of forging the name of the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt on a promissory note for $69,900. Mrs. Burdett has represented she loaned the $69,900 to one Charles J. Shunson in the presence of Col. Roosevelt at the Bull Moose convention in Chicago on June 21, 1912.

The request for the arrest followed an investigation made by John T. Doelling, assistant district attorney, at the request of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former president, and George Emlen Roosevelt, a cousin.

Assert Signature Was Forged.
Mr. Roosevelt told District Attorney Swann that in October, 1919, Mrs. Burdett made a demand for the money on Mrs. Roosevelt and, himself, as executors of the late president's estate.

The money was loaned, Mrs. Burdett was alleged to have stated, at 7 per cent.

Mrs. Burdett asserted that she was living in Danville, Ill., at the time, and was called to Chicago by James G. Payton, a justice of the peace of Danville.

Other Demands Bared.
Mr. Doelling said relatives, bankers and handwriting experts familiar with Col. Roosevelt's handwriting had declared the alleged instrument a forgery. Immediate members of the family also pointed out that the signature was preceded by the title "Col.," which Mr. Roosevelt never was known to use in signing any personal, official, or business documents.

"I also discovered that several years ago Mrs. Burdett was convicted in the Federal court of defrauding persons by the use of the mails," declared Mr. Doelling. "We also learned that some time before that she was arrested on a charge of attempting to defraud the executors of the estate of another prominent man through the filing of a claim similar to the present one."

PRINCE OF WALES
ILL; CALLS OFF
HIS ENGAGEMENTS(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, July 12.—The Prince of Wales is suffering from a slight cold and overwork, and upon his doctor's advice is remaining indoors at York House. He has been obliged to cancel his engagement for the half yearly inspection of the royal military academy at Woolwich.

Lord Derby, who has been closely observing the prince's movements, warned the public a few days ago that the prince's health was menaced by overwork. That his warning was justified is evidenced by the fact that all the prince's public engagements during the months of August and September have been cancelled and he will go to some quiet place, probably in Scotland, for a rest.

"I was not induced by Fitzmorris' talk," Knott declared at the close of the

DARKNESS ENDS
AS FITZMORRIS
SETTLES STRIKE339 Quit as Raise Is Denied 39.

With a shillalah in one hand and an olive branch in the other, Chief Fitzmorris last night settled the strike of 339 city electrical workers which threw Chicago streets into darkness from midnight until midnight.

The chief's prompt settlement and his drastic method in calling every policeman to duty had a happy result. Not a single crime was reported during the three hours the town was dark.

The men struck at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the city council finance committee refused increases to thirty-nine telephone operators, engineers, and substation watchmen and granted increases averaging $1 a day to the other 300 men. By 10:10 o'clock the strike was settled, and by 12 o'clock the 62,000 street lights were twinkling once more. The period of darkness was about three hours.

Chief Pictures City's Perils.
Conferences lasting throughout the day had failed to prevent the strike. More conferences in the evening were failures. Finally at 9:30 at night, with all the police on the job to prevent a crime orgy and with citizens stumbling home in the dark, Chief Fitzmorris called a conference in the office of City Electrician William G. Keith.

Irvin "Boss" Knott, business agent for the men, was summoned. Fitzmorris pointed out the window to the darkened streets. He spoke of crime and of the possibility of the destruction of millions of dollars' worth of property through fire because the forty linemen who look after the fire alarm wires were on strike.

He spoke of the state's attorney's office, of possible indictments for manslaughter or murder for those responsible for the strike that was endangering the safety and welfare of a great city.

Offers Olive Branch, Too.
On the other hand the olive branch was extended. For the finance committee, Ald. John S. Clark, without giving in an inch to the demands of the strikers, declared the doors of the finance committee room were always open and that a hearing would be accorded to the thirty-nine roadblocks to whom raises had been denied.

With 50 per cent of his men satisfied and with the city lighted only by a half moon and a possible prison sentence staring him in the face, Knott took the "out" presented to him.

Leaving the conference room for ten minutes, he conferred with a representative of each group of the unsatisfied strikers. He told them to go on mount heaps of trouble and to call off the hounds, meant raised for 90 per cent of the men and a hearing for the remainder.

"Strike's Over; on with Lights."
Representatives of each dissatisfied group were taken into the conference room and assured of a hearing, but were given no promises of increases.

"The strike is over. The men go back to work. The lights will go on at once," said Knott as he left the conference room a few seconds later.

That was at 10:10 o'clock. At 10:20 the first substitution snapped into action and the loop went back to luminous normalcy. Other substations soon "cut in" and began transforming the 12,000 volt sanitary district current to the 5,500 volts necessary for the 5,500 street lights. At midnight the city was itself again.

When word of the settlement came to the operator at the Halsted street station, he refused to believe it, and "Boss" was obliged to take the telephone away from Deputy City Electrician Nixon and pass the word direct.

PATROLS SPEED RETURN

Meanwhile patrol wagons from every police station were hurrying to the homes of the thirty-nine substitution operators and assistants and rushing them back to their jobs. A wide variation resulted in the hour at which the lights of different districts were turned on.

"The whole question of increases for these thirty-nine men is still open," said Ald. Clark, backed by Ald. Armistage. "We have not given in an inch and have promised nothing."

Chief Fitzmorris refused to discuss his part in the strike settlement. He declared Ald. Clark and Armistage talked it and he merely was present, to represent Mayor Thompson.

"I was not induced by Fitzmorris' talk," Knott declared at the close of the

TOKIO MUTE; ALL OTHERS AGREE TO TALK DISARMING

Acceptance from Japan Is Expected Soon.

BULLETIN.

ROME, July 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The foreign minister officially notified the American ambassador tonight that President Harding's plan for a conference for the limitation of armaments meets with the full approval of the Italian government.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) Washington, D. C., July 12.—(Special.)—France has formally accepted President Harding's invitation to the powers to participate at Washington in his proposed conference on limitation of armaments and problems of the Pacific and far east which menace world peace.

Secretary Hughes late this afternoon authorized the announcement that a communication had been received from the American embassy in Paris stating France would be "very pleased to accept" the invitation.

This prompt and favorable response was a surprise to the senate disarmament advocates, who had been fearful that the inclusion in the president's program of land and air as well as sea armament limitation might cause France to hesitate.

Expect All to Accept. The administration confidently expects early formal acceptance from all the powers, including Japan, who, since domestic statesmen think, might be inclined to parley, before accepting, the proposal that the problems of the Pacific and far east be taken up for adjustment. It was stated that the assurance of the acceptability of the president's invitation had been received already from "nearly all the powers." Investigation disclosed that "nearly all" included Great Britain, France, Italy, and China.

Japan's silence is causing no concern, however, and the administration is beginning to think about the form of the official call for the conference and the date it shall be held. President Harding hopes matters can be so arranged that the conference shall begin on Nov. 11, the anniversary of armistice day.

No Thought of New League. The president in calling the powers to sit around the table to discuss limited disarmament and problems menacing to peace, had no thought of developing into the formation of an association of nations as a substitute for the existing league of nations. But it is known that no one would be more gratified if such a consummation should come from this new mingling of the powers.

Mr. Harding fully realizes that when representatives of great nations gather to discuss world conditions there can be no inhibition of subjects which concern world welfare. And in such a conference as this he appreciates that there might be developments of such broad scope as to change the whole scheme of world protection provided in the Versailles treaty.

Ready to Join Association. The president still holds to the view he emphasized during the campaign that a "becoming" association of nations can be evolved which the United States might readily and willingly join. Emphasis was given in official quarters today to a thought uppermost in the mind of the administration that the conference is not to be a secret conference nor an exclusive one. Of course, invitations of participation have been limited, because it is the purpose to prevent the conference from becoming an unwieldy, impractical debating society.

JAPAN RECEIVES NOTE. TOKIO, July 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—First announcement of the receipt of the communication from America on the disarmament question was made in this morning's newspaper, which state that the Japanese government has received an invitation from President Harding to a joint conference for the discussion of armament limitations. The text of the communication, however, was not made public.

The Japanese naval authorities are quoted by the Asahi Shimbun as saying the navy welcomed such an invitation, explaining it had been closely studying questions in relation to this subject.

China Answers Yes. PEKING, July 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Chinese foreign office, according to the best information obtainable today, has replied to President Harding's disarmament conference proposal through S. Alfred So, the Chinese minister in Washington, urging the inclusion of China in the conference.

WAY AROUND LEAGUE? (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.) PARIS, July 12.—Nicholas Murray Butler, who is said to have urged Ambassador Harvey in negotiations over the proposed naval conference, declared tonight that President Harding's ing's disarmament proposals formed America's alternative to the league of nations, and was her final answer on ratification of the Versailles treaty. "French and British statesmen agree with me that President Harding's proposal marks a turning point in the history of the world," said Dr. Butler.

President Millerand talked with Dr. Butler for an hour today on the Harding note, and he has seen many other French statesmen. Dr. Butler said President Millerand was highly enthusiastic over the American plan. He denies that he has had a part in aiding Ambassador Harvey in the London negotiations.

Confer in London First? LONDON, July 12.—(Canadian Press.)—In consequence of official conversations here today it is considered likely that the British government will have a separate conference on Pacific problems in London before the Washington conference takes place. The original idea held here was that both conferences should be held in Washington, the first dealing with disarmament and embracing all of the great powers and the second to be confined to nations having special interest in the Pacific.

Premier Hughes of Australia and Premier Massey of New Zealand, however, pointed out that it would be virtually impossible for them to go home and then return to Washington almost immediately. They ask, therefore, that the Pacific conference, in which they have such a vital interest, should be made to meet their convenience. It is possible that a conference relative to the Pacific will be brought on here some time in August.

STATE STREET AFTER THE UNION SOUNDED "LIGHTS OUT"

The above picture was taken at State and Washington streets last night while the strike of the electricians employed by the city was still on at full blast. At the extreme left of the picture are the windows of Marshall Field & Co.'s retail store. At the right is the new Roosevelt theater, all ablaze with electricity. The center of the picture shows the darkened thoroughfare farther south, the only lights being those of electric signs and of store windows.

The above group is composed of the officers of Electricians' union No. 9, who called the strike. From left to right they are: Harry Slater, secretary; Torrence Parish, member of advisory board; Irwin ("Boss") Knott, business agent; Dan Manning, secretary of advisory board; Sam Guy, chairman of advisory board; and William Bender, member of advisory board. ## FRENCH BUILDING HUGE AIR FORCE FOR JAPANESE (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) PARIS, July 11.—The flying arms of the Japanese army and navy are being developed in France today, and also in Japan under French direction, with astonishing rapidity.

Orders for airplanes placed with French manufacturers in recent months by the Japanese military authorities total more than 300. The majority of planes being purchased are of the latest types of French scout and bombing machines. Another significant fact is that the French airplane factories, probably the most advanced in the world, are now filled with Japanese army engineers, who are studying construction. The Japanese army has adopted the French scheme of aerial organization, French instruction methods, and French types of planes.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF

Washington, D. C., July 12. After voting to make the proposed veterans' bureau an independent organization responsible directly to the President, the senate finance subcommittee today finally completed the drafting of the Sweet bill consolidating the various governmental agencies for soldier relief.

The special rule limiting debate and amendment of the tariff bill was adopted in the house today on a strict party vote of 222 to 100, only five Republicans voting against the rule and three Democrats for it.

President Harding addressed the senate today urging it to defer action on the soldiers' bonus bill indefinitely because its enactment would "greatly imperil the financial stability of the country." His speech was followed by a motion to recommitt the measure and Democrats began an attack on the move which may continue for several days.

France has formally accepted President Harding's invitation to participate in his proposed conference of the powers on limited disarmament and Pacific and far east problems. All other nations except Japan have been unofficially heard from favorably.

The Campbell-Wills bill banning beer as medicine was attacked in the senate today by Senators Lodge, Knox, Wadsworth, and Williams, who denounced it as unconstitutional.

Missouri Senate Passes 60 Million Good Roads Bill

Jefferson City, Mo., July 12.—The state senate unexpectedly took up the Ralph Road bill late this afternoon and passed the measure by a vote of 29 to 1. The bill, which provides for a state-wide system of hard surfaced highways to be constructed under the provision of the $60,000,000 road program, will be sent to the house immediately.

GERMAN U-BOAT OFFICERS FACE THEIR ACCUSERS

Men Who Sunk Hospital Ship on Trial.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.) LEIPZIG, July 12.—"Spurious verbiage"—such without trace—words which once brought war fever to America, were heard again today when German submarine officers appeared before the German supreme court charged with attempting to murder the entire personnel of the British hospital ship Llandovery Castle, as well as killing the wounded and Red Cross nurses.

The trial's first sensation came when Lieut. Dithmar and Boldt, who jointly commanded the submarine U-86 off Ireland in June, 1918, refused to give testimony, saying the officers and men took oath following the sinking of the Llandovery Castle never to tell where it happened.

First Submarine Trial.

The case was opened in the morning before an excited public which was keenly interested for two reasons. First, the trial marked the return of the British mission after it was reported that France had asked the British and Belgian missions not to attend the Leipzig trials. Second, it was the first trial of officers charged with submarine frightfulness.

The second sensation came when Second Officer Chapman of the Llandovery Castle, describing the sinking, declared the submarine commander with two revolvers in his hands fired to prevent the rescuing of the wounded.

Attempted Justification.

The submarine commander justified the sinking by claiming the Llandovery Castle carried eight American officers. When Chapman proved the Llandovery carried only medical officers, the officers of the submarine, realizing their error, were said to have ordered the removal of all traces of the deed by commanding the murder of everybody left alive.

Gordon Owens, 4233 Champlain avenue, and Robert Hardover, 542 East 37th street, Negro "box" orators, were denounced the Irish as unworthy of freedom at 35th street and Forest avenue last night when three policemen and a patrol sergeant of Irish extraction appeared.

A crowd of 400 or more whites and blacks were listening when the policemen and sergeant elbowed their way through and reached the two speakers. The latter were yanked from their "platforms" and taken into custody. The arrests were made by Sergeant Terry and Policemen Mulaney, Buren, and Mulcahey of the Stanton avenue station.

NO BONUS NOW, LOAD TOO HEAVY, HARDING'S VIEW

Senate Told to Speed Relief for Needy Heroes.

to convey to you the probable effect of the passage at this time of the proposed act, providing for adjusted compensation to our service men in the world war.

If this measure could be made effective at the present time without disaster to the nation's finances and without hindrance to imperative reconstruction of our taxes, it would present an entirely different question than that which is before you.

In a personal as well as a public manner, which ought to be a plait of good faith, I have commended the policy of generous treatment of the nation's defenders, not as a part of any contract, not as the payment of a debt which is owing, but as a mark of the nation's gratitude.

U. S. Obligation to Heroes.
Every obligation is to the disabled and dependent. In such reference as has been made to general compensation there has been a reservation as to the earliest consistent time for such action if it is taken. Even without such reservation, however, a modified view would be wholly justifiable at the present moment, because the enactment of the compensation bill in the midst of the struggle for readjustment and restoration would hinder every effort and greatly imperil the financial stability of our country.

More, this menacing effort to expend billions in gratuities will imperil our capacity to discharge our first obligations to those we must not fail to aid.

I am addressing the senate directly, because the problem is immediately yours, as your unfinished business, but the executive branch of the government owes it to both houses of congress and to the country frankly to state the difficulties we daily are called upon to meet, and the added peril this measure would bring.

Financial Chaos of World.
Our land has its share of the financial chaos and the industrial depression of the world. We little heeded the growth of indebtedness or the limits of expenditure during the war because we could not stop to count the cost. Our one thought then was the winning of the war, and the survival of the nation.

We borrowed and loaned—individuals to the nation and the government to other governments, and to those who served the nation—with little thought of settlement. It was relatively easy then, because national life was at stake.

In the sober aftermath we face the order of reason, rather than act amid the passions of war, and our own lands and the world are facing problems never solved before. There can be no solution unless we face the grim truths and seek to solve them in resolute devotion to duty.

After a survey of more than four months, contemplating conditions which would stagger all of us were it not for our abiding faith in America, I am fully persuaded that three things are essential to the very beginning of the restored order of things.

Three Vital Problems.
These are the revision, including reduction, of our internal taxation, the refunding of our war debt, and the adjustment of our foreign loans. It is vitally necessary to settle these problems before adding to our treasury any such burden as is contemplated in the pending bill.

It is unthinkable to expect business revival and the resumption of the normal ways of peace while maintaining the excessive taxes of war. It is quite as unthinkable to reduce our tax burdens while continuing our treasury to an additional obligation which ranges from three to five billions of dollars. That precise figure no one can give.

If it is conceivably true that only two hundred millions a year will be drawn annually from the treasury in the few years immediately before us, the bestowal is too inconsequential to be of real value to the nation's defenders, and, if the exercise of the option should call for cash running into billions, the depression in finance and industry would be so marked that vastly more harm than good would attend.

Our government must undertake no obligation which it does not intend to meet. No government fiat will pay our bills. The exchanges of the world testify today to that erroneous theory.

Patriotism Alone Unavailing.
We may rely on the sacrifices of patriotism in war, but today we face markets, and the effects of supply and demand, and the inexorable laws of credits in time of peace.

At the very moment we are obliged to pay 5 1/2 per cent interest for government short time loans to care for our floating indebtedness, a rate on government borrowing, in spite of tax exemption, which ought to prevail in private transactions for the normal interest charges in financing our industry and commerce.

Definite obligations amounting to seven and a half billions in War Savings certificates, Victory bonds, and certificates covering floating indebtedness, are to mature in the two years immediately following, and the overburdening of the treasury now means positive disaster in the years immediately before us. Merest prudence calls out in warning.

Our greatest necessity is a return to the normal ways of peace activities. A modest offering to the millions of service men is a poor palliative to employment. Stabilized finance and well established confidence are both essential to restored industry and commerce.

Present Slump Inevitable.
The slump which is now upon us is an inevitable part of war's aftermath. It has followed in the wake of war since the world began. There was the unavoidable readjustment, the inevitable charge-off, the unfailing attendance of losses in the wake of high prices, the inexorable deflation which inflation had preceded.

It has been wholly proper to seek to apply government relief to minimize the hardships, and the government has aided wherever possible, and is aiding now; but all the special acts ever dreamed of, all the particular favors ever conceived, will not avoid all the distresses nor ward off all the losses.

The proper mental state of our people will commit us resolutely and confidently to our tasks, and definite assurances as to taxation and expenditure will contribute to that helpful mental order. The only sure way to normalcy is over the paths nature has marked throughout all human experience.

Economy Goal of G. O. P.
With the approval of congress the executive branch of government has been driving toward that decreased expenditure which is the most practical assurance of diminished taxation. With enthusiastic resolution your administrative agents are making not only conscientious effort to reduce the call for appropriations but to reduce the cost of government far below the appropriations you have already provided.

It is easy to believe that the only way to diminish the burdens which the people must pay is to cut the outlay in which public moneys are expended. War is not wholly responsible for staggering costs; it has merely accentuated the menace which lies in mounting cost of government and excesses in expenditure which a successful private business would not tolerate.

I can make you no definite promise in figures today, but I can pledge you a most conscientious drive to reduce government cost by many millions. It would be most discouraging to those who are bending their energies to save millions to have congress add billions to our burdens at the very beginning.

Mentions Debt of Others.
Even were there not the threatened paralysis of our treasury, with its fatal reflexes on all our activities which concern our prosperity, would it not be better to await the settlement of our foreign loans? At such a time it would be a bestowal on the part of our government when it is able to bestow.

The United States participates in none of the distributable awards of war, but the world owes us heavily, and will pay when restoration is wrought. If the restoration fails, world bankruptcy attends. I believe the world restoration is possible, but only with honest, diligent work in productivity on the one hand, and honest and diligent opposition to needless public expenditure on the other.

If the suggested recommitment of this measure bore the merest suggestion of neglect or a hint of national ingratitude, I would not urge it. It has been my privilege to speak to congress on our obligations to the disabled and dependent soldiers and the government's deep desire to prove its concern for their welfare.

I should be ashamed of the republic if it failed in its duty to them. Neither armistice nor permanent peace puts an end to the obligations of the government to its defenders or the obligations of citizens to the government. Mindful of these things, the administrative branch of the government has not only spoken, it has acted and has accomplished.

Deeds of Government.
In view of some of the things which have been said, and very carefully said, perhaps I ought to report officially some of the things which have been done. In the department of war risk insurance there have been filed up to July 7, 1921, compensation and insurance claims numbering 119,442. Of these 747,786 have been adjudicated at an expenditure of $471,946,762.

There were 300,000 claims pending when the war risk department was reorganized late in April this year, and the number of pending claims has been reduced by 134,344. All work in this department will be current by the 31st of this July; that is to say, all action which the bureau may take on a given case will be current, though new claims are being filed at the rate of 700 per day.

There have been requested $87,614 medical examinations, and less than 14,000 await medical action. Up to July 7 there have been 24,337 disabled soldiers hospitalized, and in government controlled hospitals today there are 6,000 available beds without occupants. You are already aware of the progress made toward the construction of additional government hospitals, not because we are not meeting all demands, but to better meet them and the better to specialize the treatment of those who come under our care.

$378,465,658 Paid Out.
There has been paid out in allotment and allowances the sum of $378,465,658 and nearly $4,000,000,000 of government insurance is in force.

In vocational training and rehabilitation of disabled soldiers there have been enrolled to date 107,824 men. Today there are 75,512 men who are training with pay, at the maximum cost of $180 per month; 8,208 training without pay, but at a tuition and supply outlay of $35 per month.

Four thousand disabled men have completed their training and have been returned to gainful employment. These earned an average of $1,051 per year before entering the army, and are earning today, in spite of their war disability and in spite of diminished wage or salary levels, an average of $1,550 per annum.

Vast Expenditures Available.
With the increase of availability to training, as recently urged upon congress, the estimated additional expenditure will be $468,000,000 per annum, until the pledge of training is discharged.

These figures suggest neither neglect nor ingratitude. It is more than the entire cost of federal government for many years following the civil war, and challenges every charge of failure to deal considerately with our nation's defenders.

I do not recite the figures to suggest that it is all we may do, or ultimately ought to do. It is inevitable that our obligations will grow and grow enormously. We never have neglected and never will neglect the dependent soldier, and there is no way to avoid time's remorseless classifications.

Contemplating the tremendous liability, which the government will never shrink, I would be remiss in my duty if I failed to ask congress to pause at this particular time, rather than break down our treasury from which so much is later on to be expected.

It is an interesting revelation and a fine achievement, attended by both abuses and triumphs. Congress has appropriated $85,000,000 for this noble work for the current year, but the estimated acceptance of training for the year before us contemplates an average of 55,000 disabled men, and the cost will be in excess of $183,000,000, or nearly $100,000,000 more than congress has provided. This additional sum must be made available.

Soldiers Won't Ask It.
The defenders of the republic amid the perils of war would be the last of our citizenship to wish its stability menaced by an individual pittance of peace. I know the feelings of my own breast, and that of yours, and the grateful people of this republic. But no thoughtful person, possessed with all the facts, is ready for added compensation for the healthy, self-reliant masses of our great armies at the cost of a treasury breakdown which will bring its hardships to all the citizens of the republic.

Its enactment now in all probability would so add to our interest rates that the added interest charge on new and refunded indebtedness may alone exceed the sum it is proposed to bestow. When congress was called in extraordinary session I called your attention to the urgent measures which I thought demanded your consideration. You promptly provided the emergency tariff, and good progress has been made toward the much needed and more deliberate revision of our tariff schedules.

Congress Lags on Taxes.
There is confessed disappointment that so little progress has been made in the readjustment and reduction of the war time taxes. I believe you share with me the earnest wish for early accomplishment.

It is not expected that congress will sit and ignore other problems of legislation. There are often urgent problems which must enlist your attention. I have not come to speak of them, though the reorganization of the war risk and vocational training, now pending, would hasten the efficient discharge of our willing obligations to the disabled soldiers.

But I want to emphasize the suggestion that the accomplishment of the major tasks for which you were asked to sit in extraordinary session will have a reassuring effect on the entire country and speed our resumption of normal activities and their rewards which tend to make a prosperous and happy people.

Senate to Inquire Into Farm Marketing Methods

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—An investigation of a campaign reported to have been launched against the United States Grain Growers, Inc., the farmers' marketing organization, is provided for under a resolution introduced today by Senator Kenyon, Iowa.

It recites that according to press reports a campaign against the organization and against such legislation as it seeks was launched at a meeting of the National Grain Dealers' association in Cincinnati on June 27. A fund of $380,000 "was to be raised." The committee is instructed to ascertain the names of subscribers to the fund, plans for the campaign, and whether the farmers' marketing program is not in the public interest.

FIFI STILLMAN FINDS PEACE IN CHICAGO RETREAT

Banker's Wife Guest at McCormick Estate.

Mrs. Fifi Potter Stillman has come a thousand miles for a rest. She is the guest at the Lake Forest estate of Harold F. McCormick and her son James, "Bud," is with her. She intends to stay only a few days. She must go back to New York again soon, back to the divorce, back to the fight, back to the heat and the consultations with attorneys and the no-toriety.

Lake Forest is secluded, and green and fresh—though not necessarily cool. The nearest neighbor is perhaps a mile and a half away. The estate is extensive, made to wander in.

Passes Time in Room. But Mrs. Stillman spends most of the time in the house, in her own room. She arrived a few days ago.

"I have been so tired," she said. "It is nice here, and quiet. It is just what I need. Mr. McCormick was kind to invite me here."

Mrs. Stillman did not, would not, comment on the divorce case or any of its many angles. She wanted to forget it, she said, but that, of course, was impossible.

Women Express Sympathy. "I have received many letters of sympathy," she said. "Most of them are from women who know what it is to suffer."

She did not deny that one of these letters had come from Lady Astor, but she would not discuss it. She is a slim, pleasant-faced woman, appearing little more than 30 years old though she is nearer 40.

"I haven't felt so peaceful in many months," she said as she bade her visitor good-by. "I feel like another woman."

"FIFI'S" INNING TODAY

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 12.—[Special.]—Hearings in the Stillman case will be resumed tomorrow, when the defense begins presentation of evidence to offset the testimony adduced by the banker.

The first angle of the defense to be offered will deal with James A. Stillman's alleged intimacy with Mrs. Florence Leeds.

In support of this alleged affair, attorneys said former employees of Mrs. Leeds would be called as witnesses. These include several notes to her testimony to the identity of the "Mr. Leeds" who used their services making application for automobile license.

Silent Until Fall. Mrs. Stillman, for the first time, will not be present. According to information arriving from Chicago, where she is the guest of friends, she will not appear until the hearings, scheduled to be held early in September, when she will appear with Baby Guy.

The question of whether Stillman will return for additional examination on the stand will depend on a decision which Referee Gleason may announce tomorrow.

Mrs. Stillman's attorneys wish to question the banker along lines designed to show he had consulted his wife's counsel before starting his suit and that he had agreed to permit Mrs. Stillman to win freedom in the courts, but had changed his plans when he ascertained that such a suit would not adjudicate the paternity of Guy.

Beauvais Denies He'll Sue. Montreal, Que., July 12.—[Special.]—Fred Beauvais, the Indian guide, denies emphatically that he has instituted suit or has any such intention in respect to any action for $500,000 damages against Stillman, as reported in press dispatches.

"I'm sick of the whole blasted thing," said Beauvais.

SODA PRICE WAR SIZZLES MERRILY; SODA SODA MEN

Some Reduce Rates with Smile; Others—

The various sizes and qualities of ice cream sodas cost from 4 to 6 cents, according to Russell J. Poole, high cost expert.

"Any firm quoting higher costs is kidding the public," he said yesterday.

Poole's "Indoor Sport." The daily investigation of the ice cream and soda business is a great indoor sport. The Owl and National drug stores can serve 10 and 15 cent sodas. The Buck & Rayner and Home Drug company stores say they can't do it. They must have 17 cents or more.

"The Park View confectionery at one end of 63d street, with an investment of $35,000, taking in from $180 to $200 a day, buying ice cream at $1.10 a gallon and paying no income tax because the proprietor is so poor, couldn't possibly sell sodas for less than 17 cents.

A Study in Contrasts. At the other end, near Cottage Grove avenue, John Leran closes his store at 11 o'clock at night, gives his employees Sundays and holidays off, handles first class goods, is making all plain drinks 5 cents, sodas and sundries 13 cents and 2 cents war tax, and mailed milk 13 cents and 2 cents war tax. And his goods are better than those served by many others who charge more."

COWS, CHICKENS, GAY WIDOW, GIRL, WIN WIFE DECREE

The lure of the cows and chickens, a merry widow and a factory girl won a divorce before Judge Sabath yesterday for Mrs. Adelaide Hoover McGee of the St. George hotel, a student at the University of Chicago, from James C. McGee.

The couple were married in February, 1918, and separated six years later. Mrs. McGee was studying in the Macomb Normal school when they met.

"When my husband left me he said he could not stand the high brow university atmosphere and longed for the cows and chickens," Mrs. McGee told the court, "but I believe his real reasons were a certain little factory girl and a merry widow who lives in Marion."

JUDGE RETURNS BANK SUSPECTS TO POLICE CARE

Martin "Big Six" Sicks and two companions, arrested Saturday in connection with the robbery of the State Bank of Clearing, were turned back to the police yesterday by Judge Francis Wilson, after he had refused to issue a warrant for Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes, who was accused of beating the men.

The judge took the prisoners out of the hands of the police Monday when their attorneys complained they had been assaulted by Chief Hughes and his detectives. Yesterday, however, after sending for Chief Pittmorris and asking him to look at the injuries of the men, the judge refused to issue any warrant, stating if a complaint was made it should be to the state's attorney's office.

Frank Rio, a fourth man, suspected of having participated in the robbery, was taken into custody during the day and partly identified by witnesses.

SULLIVAN GIVES SCHOLARSHIPS TO COLLEGE IN ROME

Three scholarships in the American College of Rome have been established by Mr. and Mrs. Boetius Sullivan of Chicago for the use of Bishop Muldoon of Rockford, Ill., it was learned yesterday.

The scholarships were given in memory of Mr. Sullivan's father, the late Roger C. Sullivan, who had his early training at Belvidere, Ill., which is in the Rockford diocese.

While in Rome, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan had a private audience with the pope and dinner with Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, Cardinal Bissetti, and Mgr. O'Hern, rector of the college.

"DISCHARGED—BUT DON'T DO IT AGAIN" Patrolman Patrick Waters was discharged when assigned before Judge Haas yesterday on a charge of striking Daniel Wolf, a taxi chauffeur, with his club while Wolf was on the way to central station to obtain the release of friends.

Comparisons respectfully solicited

As a nation we are easy going—a quality not without virtue but entailing disadvantages.

The public's indulgent disposition and good natured tolerance, permit in many public eating places slovenly methods of preparing food and almost sullen disregard of elementary hygiene.

PARTISAN VOTE LIMITS HOUSE TARIFF DEBATE

Final Ballot on Bill Will Take Place July 21.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—Party organizations held to gether almost solidly in the first test vote on the tariff bill in the house today. The special rule, limiting debate and amendments, was adopted by a vote of 222 to 190, with four "present." Only five Republicans voted against the rule and only three Democrats in the affirmative.

The five Republicans who refused to support the rule as approved by the party caucus were Lampert, Stafford, Volgt, Kleckha, and J. M. Nelson, all of Wisconsin.

The Democrats who voted for the rule and who will vote for the Fordney bill on final passage were Martin, Favrot, Lazaro, and J. M. Nelson, all of Louisiana.

How Debate Is Limited.
The special rule limits general debate to the close of the day on Thursday and provides for a final vote on the bill and all pending amendments July 21. Preference is given to consideration of amendments to five paragraphs of the bill, those relating to the dye embargo, hides, cotton, oil, and asphalt, and to such amendments as may be presented from the ways and means committee.

During the ensuing debate Representative Longworth, O. Republican ways and means committee member and chairman of the subcommittee which framed the chemical schedule, including the dye embargo provision, urged the need of the embargo. Mr. Longworth also defended the American valuation plan, and discussed the bargaining provisions and the wool schedule.

Defends His "Valuation."
"The assessment of ad valorem duties based on home valuation," he said, "has been a part of the policy of many countries, and I understand has invariably worked successfully. Even in normal times duties assessed upon values of importations in our market would be preferable to their assessment upon the value of the goods in the foreign market."

"When the proper machinery for its administration is inaugurated, and that, in my judgment, can be done in a comparatively short time, it will be simpler, more expeditious, and more economical."

"It is apparent that it will be easier, and less expensive to obtain evidence and maintain values in cases before the board of general appraisers as to the American selling price than as to foreign values."

Same Revenue, Less Duty.
"An equal amount of revenue in many cases will be produced at a much lower rate of duty. The American manufacturer will have increased actual protection and will be a party to the furnishing of reliable evidence."

"So much for the advisability of this system in normal times. But the need for it becomes infinitely more pressing in these days of chaos in foreign exchange."

"Consequently, foreign values expressed in the terms of these currencies fluctuate from day to day. Under such circumstances it would be impossible to obtain the revenue intended."

RALPH HERZ DIES; NOTED COMEDIAN HERE AND ABROAD

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—

Ralph Herz, well known comedian, whose last appearance on the stage was made in "Blossom Time," in which he was to have opened on Broadway early in a few weeks, died suddenly early today at the Atlantic City hospital, Atlantic City, N. J., of diabetes.

Although an all-around actor, probably his greatest success was achieved in musical comedy. He was born in Paris, March 25, 1878, and educated at the Ecole Alsatienne and later at Eton and Trinity college, Cambridge, England. When his father, a wealthy physician, lost his fortune with De Lesseps in the building of the Suez canal, Herz turned to the stage.

His first stage appearance was as an "extra" at the Haymarket, London, in the "School for Scandal" in 1900. He appeared first in America as a member of Mrs. Patrick Campbell's company as Uncle William Gray in "John Henry" in 1902.

After a season in stock in Cleveland he joined Maxine Elliott and appeared as Stephen Carley in "Her Own Way." Next he played Pinney Doolittle with Lulu Glaser in "Dolly Dollars." A year later he married Miss Glaser, from whom he was divorced about nine years ago. Several years later he married Miss Frances Logan. He is survived by his widow, his mother, whose home is in Brussels, and four sisters. Three live in San Francisco.

was to have been followed by Harry Luehrs, chief clerk in the treasurer's office, but owing to the presence of Mr. Griffin, Luehrs' testimony was postponed until today.

Griffin Evidence Startling.
Neither Attorney General Brundage nor State's Attorney Mortimer would discuss the evidence, but it was reported that Griffin's testimony proved more startling than anticipated.

He is supposed to have explained the operations of the "Grant Park Bank," whose certificates of deposit were held by small and Fred E. Sterling during their terms as state treasurer and which Mr. Miller refused to accept.

Brundage Awaits Grand Jury Action.
Attorney General Brundage, it was learned, will not launch the civil suit to recover the interest money until after the grand jury has completed its investigation. Through the testimony of the Grant Park and Kankakee witnesses coupled with the fact that tomorrow, the grand jury probably will be able to determine just what disposition was made of approximately $450,000 in interest annually.

This sum represents the difference between the 8½ per cent the notes are said to have netted and the 2 per cent turned in to the state.

Some criticism has been directed at the attorney general for giving an opinion to State Auditor Russell holding the recent $500,000 emergency appropriation unconstitutional, whereas he O. K'd an emergency appropriation during the Lowden administration. The two cases are not parallel, Mr. Brundage says. He holds the appropriation under Lowden was made for the use of departments under the civil code, and specifically states the purposes for which the money was to be used by these departments. The appropriation under Small was made to the executive, military and legislative branches of the government, without defining the specific uses to which the funds are to be put, according to Mr. Brundage.

OVERALL PRICES 99% BELOW PEAK.

The price of overalls and work shirts will not be reduced further, according to Oscar Berman of Cincinnati, who presided yesterday at a meeting in Hotel La Salle of the executive board of the Union Made Garment Manufacturers' association, which controls 88 per cent of the American overalls and work shirt output. "Our prices have been reduced 99 per cent from the peak," Mr. Berman said.

when the books of the office were turned over to him.

These certificates of deposit bore the name of the State Senator E. C. Curtis and his brother, Verne, as proprietors of the "Grant Park Bank." Whether such a bank was a bona fide institution at the time, engaged in other financial operations or, as alleged by the attorney general, merely a "paper bank" organized for the purpose of taking charge of the loan is one of the most important points in dispute.

The state contends that if such a bank ever was in existence it had ceased to function and at the time the loan was negotiated possessed no other assets than a book which was kept in one of the Curtis banks. A charter of the old Grant Park bank, founded by the late Alonzo Curtis, father of Verne Curtis, is said to be still in existence.

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD FOR SWEET BILL

Full Senate Committee
Gets Measure Today.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—After voting to make the proposed veterans' bureau an independent organization responsible directly to the president the senate finance subcommittee today finally completed the re-drafting of the Sweet bill, consolidating the various governmental agencies dealing with soldiers' relief.

The subcommittee will make its report to the whole committee tomorrow. It is doubtful whether the whole committee will ratify the report without considerable discussion of the amendment making the bureau a separate institution, although the president's message today may hasten action.

Offers Aid to Soldiers.
Another influence which may push the measure forward is a newly developed tendency on the part of some members to view the Sweet bill as a handy instrument for counteracting disappointment among ex-service men over the prospective sidetracking of the bonus.

President Harding took occasion in his message today to make a plea for the Sweet bill, without specifically mentioning the measure.

"It is not expected," he said, "that congress will sit and ignore other problems of legislation. There are other urgent problems which must engage your attention. I have not come to speak of them, though the reorganization of the war risk and vocational training, now pending, would hasten the efficient discharge of our willing obligations to the disabled soldiers."

Chief Change on the Bill.
The amendment making the veterans' bureau an independent organization represents the chief change in the bill as it passed the house. This recommendation conforms to the recommendations of the Dawes commission, and is designed, according to Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the subcommittee, to eliminate red tape which has hampered the work of administering relief.

The provision in the Sweet bill under which minor disabilities, in the ten per cent classification, may be treated at the expense of the government was left intact by the subcommittee. This provision, according to Senator Smoot, will cost the government about $343,000,000.

No change was made in the section of the Sweet bill limiting the number of sub-offices of the veterans' bureau to 140.

Senator Smoot declined to make public the amendments in detail until they have been presented in a formal report to the whole committee.

Quiz Illinois Senators on Sweet Bill, Bonus

Springfield, Ill., July 12.—[Special.]—William R. McCauley, Illinois commander of the American Legion, today sent the following telegram to United States Senators William B. McKinley and Medill McCormick at Washington:

"The ex-service men and women of Illinois are still waiting your answer as to whether or not you are going to support the Sweet bill and adjusted compensation now. We expect an immediate reply."

The Legion, in session in this city recently, urged the two senators from Illinois to support the bill before congress, but have received no reply.

Reading Iron Co. Cuts Prices on Chief Products

Reading, Pa., July 12.—The Reading Iron company, one of the country's largest independents, today announced a general reduction in the selling prices of its tubular goods, nails, and bar iron. The reduction in both oil, country, and standard pipe ranges from $6 to $12 a ton. Since Jan. 1, 1921, the company has made three reductions in prices aggregating approximately $30 a ton. A new pay scale is effective July 16.

3 OF 16 FINED AS GAMBLERS

Three of the sixteen men arrested on charges of gambling when detectives raided the coffee shop of Joseph J. Pollock, 847 West Harrison street, were fined $10 and were released when arraigned before Judge Samuel H. Truitt. The other thirteen men were discharged for lack of evidence.

AIR HERO KILLED

Harry Hawker Braved Death on Trans-Atlantic Flight Only to Meet the Grim Reaper on a Quiet Aviation Field.

HARRY HAWKER.

HARRY G. HAWKER, FAMOUS AVIATOR, FALLS TO DEATH

Gained Fame in Trans-Atlantic Flight.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, July 12.—Harry G. Hawker, the British aviator who was almost lost at sea in an attempt to fly across the Atlantic ocean, was killed at Hendon field today while practicing for the aerial derby which will be held shortly.

While flying at a great height his machine, a Newport, suddenly burst into flames and fell in a nose dive. Hawker was thrown out of his machine, both legs and an arm being broken, but his body was not burned. The machine was completely destroyed.

Attempted Ocean Flight.

Harry G. Hawker first gained fame as a flyer when, on May 13, 1919, with Commander MacKenzie Grieve as navigator, he attempted a flight from Newfoundland to Ireland. The London Daily Mail had offered a $50,000 prize for a nonstop flight across the Atlantic. Hawker used a Sopwith biplane, an overland machine with no pontoon, which meant it would sink almost immediately if it fell into the water. He had figured to make the crossing in twenty hours.

About ten hours out from Newfoundland, on a direct course to Ireland, the plane developed engine trouble and Hawker and his navigator decided to make for the main shipping route, where they sighted the Danish steamer Mary and dropped in the water ahead of the vessel.

Friends Thought Him Lost.

It was more than a week later when Hawker and his companion were landed on the Scottish coast and his friends in both America and Great Britain had given him up for lost. His brave attempt to cross the Atlantic won for him a decoration from King George. A month later Capt. Sir John Alcock made the flight successfully. Capt. Alcock was killed in an airplane fall in France a few months later.

TRUST DOCTORS ON BEER RATION, SENATE IS TOLD

JBY & STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—The Campbell-Willis bill forbidding beer as medicine was the target for another spirited bombardment in the senate today.

The attacking forces included Senator Lodge, Republican leader; Senator Knox, former attorney general; Senator Wade of New York, and Senator Williams of Mississippi.

Call Proposal Illegal.

They denounced the bill as unconstitutional on the ground that the eighteenth amendment gave congress no power to prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors, except for beverage purposes. They contended congress has no authority whatever to extend prohibition to alcohol not used as a beverage.

"The bill now before us carries prohibition far beyond any point that even the proponents of prohibition ever dreamed of," Senator Lodge said. "It is not only bad in itself, but in my opinion will defeat the very purpose it is intended to accomplish. I think there is grave doubt if this proposal is constitutional."

"The eighteenth amendment very clearly states 'for beverage purposes,' and it seems to me to include something purely medical is going beyond the limits of the amendment."

"I think there is a point that is very likely to get into the courts."

Knox Takes Like View.

Senator Knox asserted that the eighteenth amendment clearly limited prohibition to alcohol used for beverage purposes. "When the eighteenth amendment," Senator Knox said, "was before this body I took the trouble to read it before I voted to submit it to the people."

"That amendment reads 'for beverage purposes' and had it read 'for beverage and medicinal purposes' I would not have voted for its submission to the states."

FIND AUTO BEFORE OWNERS MISS IT.

The police last night found an auto stolen from the City Motor Bus company, 350 South Paulina street, at West Madison and Halsted streets. They called the company. Employees said that was the first they had heard of the theft. They had not missed the car until then.

BANK YOUR SAVINGS at this 59-year-old bank

Interest Paid from July 1 on Savings Deposits made on or before July 13

Since 1862 the policy of this bank has not been changed.

We started with the idea of giving exceptional service. Of being a "friendly" sort of bank. And thus to please our patrons.

All business is transacted on a man-to-man basis. The small depositor is treated with the same consideration as the large one. For we know that from little things, big things grow.

The atmosphere is democratic and congenial. Our officers are always accessible. Always ready and willing to help.

There are no formalities. Depositors are invited to bring their problems to us for discussion.

Some come often. Others never come. But all of them know the service is here whenever they want it.

So from a little bank, we have grown to a big one with over 18,000 depositors and in excess of $30,000,000 on deposit. In the last 5 years deposits have more than doubled.

What these people like, we think you will like.

A TARIFF OF PROTECTION OR PRIVILEGE?

President Harding's letters to Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee on the subject of duties on crude petroleum contains much that is worthy of consideration in the present debate in the house not only upon oil but upon other schedules of the tariff bill.

The President's position is the sound one of opposing a duty which will tend to result in destruction of our reserves of essential resources to obtain temporary relief or advantage for a small minority of producers and distributors. It is, in effect, a denunciation of all the log-rolling features of the bill.

"The oil industry," the President writes, "is so important to our country, and our future is so dependent upon an abundance of petroleum that I think it is vastly more important that we develop an abundance of resources rather than temporary profit to a few producers who feel the pinch of Mexican competition."

Exactly the same argument can be applied to the wood and wood products schedules by substituting "lumber" for "oil," thus: The lumber industry is so important to our country, and our future is so dependent upon an abundance of timber that I think it is vastly more important to develop an abundance of resources rather than temporary profit to a few producers who feel the pinch of Canadian competition.

But despite the soundness of such advice, privilege has crept into the bill, and the protection idea has been misused to protect individuals and groups rather than the public. Thus the "American valuation feature," designed to protect American manufacturers from the competition of cheap labor and depreciated currency abroad, in reality makes the dictators of the tariffs on commodities which might be in competition with their goods. By the provision that an ad valorem duty shall be fixed on such imported commodities according to the common market price of similar American goods the way is prepared for putting up the price of American products. This in turn would result in higher tariffs with corresponding higher prices for domestic goods, and so on, piling tariff upon price and price upon tariff until foreign commodities would virtually be barred out and prohibitive prices might easily ruin demand for domestic products. Also importers would never know exactly what their commodities would cost laid down in America and their business would be demoralized.

Would it not be better to value such imports in dollars according to the European exporter's invoice calculated on the current rate of exchange with the country of production? An ad valorem duty on such valuation could be made high enough to provide all the protection needed, and the cost of such goods here would be subject only to the minor fluctuations of exchange.

As the bill stands it is in many features a questionable measure. The Republican caucus has ordered special votes on the schedules on hides, dyestuffs, oils, cotton and asphalt. It ignored the issue on dressed lumber and wood products. Neither immediate sponsors of the bill nor the Republican party can afford to subject themselves to such criticism as is likely to be turned upon Mr. Fordney because of the fact that while he supports the provision for a reciprocal duty of 25 per cent ad valorem to be levied on Canadian dressed lumber at the discretion of the President he is personally interested in the lumber business in this country.

There is already too much indication in the bill that special interests, as for instance the "chemical foundation," which controls our infant dye industry, have not only given necessary facts to the framers of the bill but have exercised influence to get themselves protected.

We want a trading as well as a protective tariff, but by that is meant a tariff under which domestic and foreign trade can be developed, not a tariff arranged by trading a vote for a duty on lumber for a vote for a duty on crude oil.

NO DELAY IN DISABLED VETERANS' RELIEF.

With a recess in prospect the reason for expedition in disabled veterans' relief becomes all the more urgent. There should be no recess until congress has done its duty, the nation's duty, to the men who have suffered so much in our country's service. The soldiers' friends have seen other measures of less importance expedited. They realize that this soldiers' relief can be made effective if the same effort is put into its consideration and passage. The Dawes commission pointed the way some months ago and there is no excuse for long drawn debates and committee hearings. The scandal of the soldiers' mismanagement is notorious and the proper consolidation of agencies to deal efficiently with the needs of the disabled has been prescribed. The country demands that this reform be put through without delay. The credit of the administration and of congress and of the party in power are all at stake.

VISITING ROYALTIES.

The postponement of the visit of Queen Marie of Roumania to our shores may disappoint New Yorkers, but not very keenly the American people as a whole. We are given to a lavish private hospitality and would not be guilty of ungenerality toward an estimable lady. But after all we are a republican people constitutionally rid of kings and queens and opposed on principle to the institution of monarchy. Therefore in the case of this royalty we cannot be very easy in the performance of those duties of hospitality which we like to fulfill in the case of the stranger within our gates.

Our line is, in fact, the expert of queens, rather than the import. The American woman being, as Dr. Einstein has just discovered, queen in the American household, she takes readily to the position when thrust upon her in Europe. But when the process is reversed and foreign queens propose to call upon us, an embarrassing situation is created.

If Roumania will send Mr. Jonesco or any other of her leading statesmen, her favorite band leader, her best heavyweight wrestler, her most prominent woman's club president or her pet movie queen, the American public will do full honors to the event. But Queen Marie or any other political royalty would discomfort our republicanism, and we hope the social sense of European courts will save us this embarrassment.

AT THE NEW PEACE CONFERENCE.

The eagerness and unconcealed elation with which Mr. Lloyd George and M. Briand have greeted Mr. Harding's invitation to a new conference may be occasion for gratification. Yet, without betraying a too wakeful suspicion, we must confess to a stirring of painful memories. What happened to the United States at Versailles and what might have followed from their naive efforts of our late representative in European councils are still rather vivid in the American mind.

It is well they should be. The new peace conference may well prove to be a Pandora's box, as the Versailles conference was for Europe and might have been for us. The new conference offers virtually unlimited consequences since the question of limitation of land armament opens up almost every problem in the world of international politics. It involves Russia, Poland, Silesia, the Ruhr, the Tyrol, Constantinople, Mesopotamia, Syria, Shantung, Siberia. It involves German reparations and trade, French inflation and expenditure.

At peace societies, it is easy to dwell on the horrors of war and to call upon the nations to lay down their arms and turn their swords into plowshares. But in a conference of statesmen responsible for concrete action and burdened with the responsibilities of national safety, interest or ambition, the problem of limiting armament becomes a complicated business whose strands run throughout the world in an almost inextricable network.

Mr. Wilson, with his easy formulas, indulged in the theory that America asks nothing in a peace conference. This is true in only a very narrow sense. We want a good deal. He wanted a good deal, much more than the statesmen he dealt with or the peoples back of them were willing to grant. We want to be paid a considerable sum of money. We want access to world markets and to world resources on fair terms. We want limitations of expenditure and financial policies which shall make it possible for us to trade upon adequate security and for our debtors to meet their obligations. We want free communication across the Pacific and access to the opportunities which Asia offers. We want the establishment of non-aggressive policies by governments and the removal of the selfish short-sighted restrictions among the nations of Europe which are blocking the restoration of European economic efficiency.

In short we want many important things which Europe shows little disposition to grant and will not grant without substantial returns from us.

All or many of these matters must come within the consideration of the new peace conference if it is to be more than an occasion of empty rhetoric. And if such weighty matters are treated, it will demand from our representatives all that statesmanship can command.

We devoutly trust, therefore, that we shall be represented not by doctrinaires but by well informed and acute intelligences, which will respect facts and forces and beware of formulas. Our representatives will test their minds against some of the ablest minds of Europe, in a field in which their adversaries are veterans. We have confidence that if we are rid of a passion to play moral beadle to the nations and rely upon our native powers, our sense of practical affairs and our common sense, we shall not suffer seriously and may do a great deal of good not only for America but for those other peoples with whose real welfare our own is largely bound up. As a nation whose paramount interest is peace and whose entanglements and ambitions are relatively simple, we ought to be able to help effectively to get the demoralized family of nations back to a firmer footing.

Editorial of the Day*CONTROL OF THE PRESS.
[From the Editor and Publisher.]

The charges that the leading newspapers of the country are controlled by this interest or that, and that most of them are susceptible to bribes if approached in the right way, are as old as the newspaper industry. Because of this influence in the business, political, and social life of the nation they have been and always will be objects of attack. Every blackleg, swindler, or thief who has been shown up by the press, every hypocrite who has been unmasked, every criminal whose record has been published, is the natural enemy of the newspapers and industriously circulates charges of this character.

Politicians whose trickery and subterfuge to bosses have been made public by the dailies and country weeklies take particular delight in making vicious attacks upon them in their stump speeches. Authors and writers who have failed to succeed or whose productions have been severely criticized by the press find that they can attract attention to themselves by accusing the newspapers of criminal acts of every conceivable nature. They have no difficulty in obtaining a hearing among members of clubs and other organizations to which they belong.

There are doubtless among the 25,000 newspapers and magazines published in the United States a few that are not honest, just as all men are not honest, but the rank and file are above suspicion. During the last twenty-five years not a single newspaper of standing has been convicted of bribery or fraud, and during that period numerous investigations have been made of their editorial and business relations with the public.

Newspapers are "controlled," but the control is vested in the men who own them and who have a right to exercise that power. It is an axiom in the world of journalism that no newspaper can achieve permanent success that is not devoted unselfishly to the service of the community. A newspaper that is run for the purpose of manipulating stocks and for "working" the public for the benefit of private interests is soon discredited. Its utterances are regarded with suspicion; it loses public confidence, and when it loses that it might as well shut up shop, and go out of business until it repents of its sins and has sufficient capital to keep it going long enough to win back what it has lost.

Newspapers must be honest, must be fair, must serve the community if they would become molders of public opinion and builders of business prosperity.

HYPNOTISM.

Wearily, wearily, wearily,
Droop your lids;
Hear in the distance those silvery chimes
Echoing softly their musical rhymes,
Ringing a tired old world to repose,
Dispelling with man's sorrows and woes;
Wearily, wearily, sleep.

Lazily, lazily, lazily,
Close your eyes;
Tightly close,
Where the hum of soft rippling brooks
Babbling so faintly thru warm, shady nooks,
Humming low lullabies under the trees
Where summer butterflies poise in the breeze;
Lazily, lazily, sleep.

Drowsily, drowsily, drowsily,
Bow your head;
Gently bow,
Where the swanman waving his arms,
Swinging and weaving his slumberous charms,
Drawing you nearer and nearer the vale
Where all allurements of wakefulness fail;
Drowsily, drowsily, sleep.

Dreamily, dreamily, dreamily,
Sink thou to rest;
Sleepily sink,
Where on this soft, leafy viny bed
Where the cool breezes their fresh fragrance shed,
Drink thou the wine of forgetfulness deep,
Morpheus faithfully watch o'er thee keep;
Dreamily, dreamily, sleep.

(By Ursus)
July 14, 1920.—William Jennings Bryan, a man of power with the women of this country, has urged that the first step is to shut the doors of the race suicide be stopped. It was he who led the battalion of women against the bootleggers of Miami, Fla., and bankrupted the city. All households must pay a high tax and cannot go more than fifty feet from the shore. Foreign ships cannot land here, but must go to Canada. The last vessel of our famous merchant marine rotted and sank off Hoboken at an early hour today. So pleased was she over her success that she purchased me an electrical dishwashing apparatus which makes my housework so much easier.

Or does the dignity rest upon one mighty pair of poetic shoulders? Was Shakespeare accepted by Greene and his academic followers? Was Keats accepted by the poets of the day? THE MYSTERIOUS GOITRE.

THE great lake basin is one of the regions of the greatest goitre prevalence, as was shown by the army draft. A much more intensive study made by Dr. L. Lein indicates that in sections of this region at least goitre may be as prevalent as it is in certain cantons of Switzerland, if not more so.

Dr. Levin examined all the people, sick and well, old and young, in two towns in Houghton county, Mich. He has lived there for some time and practically all these people had been known to him a long time.

He found 1,783 of his neighbors had some degree of goitre, though few of them suffered from it or even knew they were different from other people. Of the 1,783 known to have goitre 1,243 were born in the county and of the 540 born elsewhere 341 had lived in the county more than a year.

He found that not very successful in finding the cause of the prevalence of the disease. The water is obtained from three sources—Lake Superior, Gregory springs, and private wells. The disease is not equally prevalent in the three groups—divided on the basis of their water supply.

Amoyt has studied the water of Lake Superior. It is not unduly polluted. The waters of Lake Superior had an unusually high chlorine content, but this was due to salt.

Levin found in all the waters as much sodium as there was calcium. This is the high sodium content of the water. All in all Levin saw no evidence that either pollution of water or unusual purity or unusual chemical balance was responsible for goitre. Of the persons examined about 45 per cent of the females had some enlargement of the thyroid. This proves that sex had something to do with it. It was noticed that during pregnancy goitres enlarged. In women they were enlarged somewhat during menstruation, showing further that sex had something to do with it.

Age was another factor. Forty-seven per cent of the children 4 years old had it. The percentage increased rapidly up to 10 years of age and almost as rapidly up to 15 years of age. At 18 95 per cent of the girls and 60 per cent of the boys had it. 88 per cent of the boys and girls taken together had it. After that the percentage in both sexes slowly decreased. Half the men and women 60 had it. In men it was most prevalent in those at 12, but had fallen off four-fifths in men at 40. In women it kept around 80 per cent for all ages over 10.

He divided what he called goitre into four kinds. The simple enlargements of the gland, without any other symptoms, were much the most frequent in persons younger than 25. Six hundred and eighty-two people had that kind. Adenoma cysts more accurately thyroid tumors—began to develop among people at the age of 25—420 had this kind. Most of the goitres that caused nervousness, trembling of the hands, loss of flesh, diarrhoea, nervousness, loss of sleep, were in this group. Forty-four were what is called colloid goitres—not many of them had the prominent eyes of goitre.

Thus we see that while four-fifths of the people of this region under 61 years of age had enlargement of the thyroid, the majority of them could feel no ill effects from it. We need more study of goitre in such regions as Houghton county, to discover if there is anything wrong with the climate and conditions of living there and also to determine just which kinds of goitre are harmful and why.

INFECTION PROBABLE CAUSE.
F. J. F. writes: "1. Can you tell me of some good remedy for swollen glands of the neck? They have been swollen for the last eight years, causing a pain up to three weeks ago. Then I started to ache and get a little larger. I have known of three different cases where they have been operated on and as bad as before."

REPLY.
1. The swollen glands are due to infection with some germ. The first step is to shut the infection with tubercle bacilli from drinking milk from tuberculous cows is the most frequent cause. Infection may reach the glands through any of the mouth or nose structures. Some milk glands enlarge as a result of infection absorbed through skin. A tubercle bacillus test could disclose whether this is a tubercular infection. Scrofula is treated by tuberculin, light therapy, rest, feeding, open air.

As is stated in the heading daily, there can be no assurance of a reply unless stamped and addressed envelope is sent. A few of the questions in the column for only a few of the hundreds of letters received.

SCIENCE VS. GUESSWORK.
M. J. H. writes: "I have noticed your statement saying constant use of soda causes acid stomach. Dr. Rippey's treatment of ulcer of the stomach calls for hourly use of soda, sodium carbonate, as a magnesia to neutralize the acid. Can you explain?"

REPLY.
The Rippey treatment is given for a limited time under the control of physicians. It is not a carefully regulated. The habitual use of soda as condemned in this column repeatedly is not given under the control of physicians. The length of the treatment is not scientifically determined. The dose is excessive. Practically all of the medicines which are curative when properly used are harmful when indiscriminately used.

THE HIGH HAND.
Chicago, July 9.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I moved into my flat with the understanding that I was to pay $25 a month for three months and after that the rent would be only $22 a month.

Several requests of the landlord to put in screens brought no action and I had to appeal to the health department. That department made the landlord furnish screens, but the landlord now gives me a sixty day notice to move or pay $27 a month. He says the screens and electricity have forced him to raise the rent. We have no lease. How about the original agreement?

H. K.
The validity of your agreement depends on the length of the term. If it was for a term of years, the notice is valid under the statute of frauds, if not in writing. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

EXHAUSTED!
Chicago, July 5.—[Friend of the People.]—In March I notified the owner of the building to the south of me, by mail, that the gutters on his building were in such bad shape that they caused my basement to flood every time it rained. I afterwards took up the matter with the health department and they came out and told him to repair the gutters. They called a second time, but nothing has been done. I should like to know if you can find the reason. EXHAUSTED.

A notice was served on the owner of the premises on May 3 to "repair defective roof gutters and downspouts on rear and front of the building or replace them." The owner replied, stating that the contract for new gutters had been let.

His attention has been called to this matter several times since then, but instead of repairing the gutters, he has been forwarding the facts to the city prosecutor with the request that suit proceedings be instituted immediately.

WISHES TO START FARMING.
Chicago, July 1.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I am an ex-soldier, having served for four years in the army and seventeen months overseas. I should like to know if the government loans money to ex-soldiers to give them a chance to start farming. In case they do where shall I apply for it?

T. E. L.
The federal government has provided no funds for loans to ex-soldiers for farming purposes. Several states have passed bills appropriating loans to ex-soldiers for such purposes. Illinois has made no such provisions.

SCHOOL SITE.
Chicago, July 6.—[Friend of the People.]—Do you know if any plans have been made to erect a public school on the northeast corner of Cicero avenue and Roosevelt road?

It is not the intention of the board of education to erect a school building at that location. The northeast corner of Cicero avenue and Roosevelt road is the site of the new high school.

WHEELS ENTICE $1 MINUTE EACH FOR RIVERVIEW

But That Isn't Gambling, in Cops' Opinion.

Bags of candy, kewpie dolls, baskets of groceries, and other novelties are the lures used at Riverview park to entice the dimes from the pockets of the unwary. The wheels of chance spin every minute and usually the winner with the "winning" number is a small child. This, however, is not gambling, in the opinion of the police.

"No," says the Riverview one night guard, "it is a sure thing."

A check on the twenty-five wheels operated without police interference showed they took in on average of a dollar a minute. At the exits, however, one sees few visitors carrying away anything but a sour look.

"It doesn't cost much to get in," is a remark frequently heard as father and mother are herding the kids onto a wheel, "but it costs plenty to get out. I spent more than $3 trying to win that basket of groceries."

"Raffling Not Gambling,"

Policemen Joseph Gallagher and Martin Duffy, detailed at Riverview by Capt. John D. McCarthy, presumably to see that the laws are enforced, shake their heads when gambling is mentioned.

"Go long wid yes," says Gallagher in his pleasant way. "Sure and them wheels is not gambling wheels. They're raffie wheels. Don't yez know the difference between gambling and raffie?"

Gallagher has been detailed at Riverview for more than ten years, and he knows when raffling is gambling and when it is just plain fun.

Policemen acting under the orders of State's Attorney Crowe raided the place of James O'Leary, the Democratic politician, at 4133 South Halsted street yesterday. Riverview is much nearer. The raid marked the third recent on O'Leary's place since Mr. Crowe commenced his gambling raids. Last were used in chopping through doors to gain admittance.

Twist Gambling and Gambling.

Gallagher would not comment on the difference between gambling at O'Leary's and gambling at Riverview. "Why the state's attorney would raid one place and not the other."

"It's not my affair what is done on the south side," he said. "And it is none of my business if they did stop a church picnic from operating one wheel across the way at Harri's park. I'm responsible only for Riverview park."

He was agitated when his questioner asked:

"Is it true that a prominent north side Thompson-Lundin politician has the gambling concession at Riverview?"

"Gambling concession your eye," he bellowed. "Find out what gambling is before you ask such fool questions." Funk & Wagnall's New Standard Dictionary was consulted. This was its definition of gambling: "To play a game, especially a game of chance, for stakes; risk money or other possession on an event, chance, or contingency."

Police All Dodge Question.

Failing to obtain from Gallagher a denial that the politician was involved in an admission that Riverview's money making wheels even came close to being gambling, the inquisitor sought higher.

Sergeants, lieutenants, captains, first deputy, chief, state's attorney, and his chief investigator all evaded the question. Some even asked, "Where is Riverview?" All passed the buck to Capt. John D. McCarthy, commander of the police district in which Riverview is located.

"He will be back from his furlough on July 28. Ask him," was the happy "out" of each evader.

ROMPING GIRL, 7, RUNS IN FRONT OF CAR; KILLED

Louise Domke, 7 years old, of 3912 Lincoln avenue, while at play yesterday ran into the path of a moving street car in front of her home. She died a few hours later at the Ravenswood hospital. The motorist, F. H. Drick, according to witnesses, hurriedly clamped down the brakes of his car, but not in time to avoid hitting the child. She was rolled part way under the car and it was necessary to call out the fire department to remove her.

MRS. KABER LONG INSANE, FATHER, SISTER TESTIFY

Cleveland, O., July 12.—[Special.]—With her sister, uncle, and her aged father testifying in an attempt to save her life, Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber today broke down at her trial for the murder of her husband, Dan Kaber.

When Mrs. Margaret McGuinness, Mrs. Kaber's sister, wife of a wealthy Cleveland banker, took the witness stand, the accused woman wept.

John Brickel, Mrs. Kaber's father, 73, testified to various incidents which lead him to believe his daughter insane from birth.

Mrs. McGuinness, the sister, endeavored to make it clear she knew nothing about her sister except that she "was insane."

Mrs. Kaber's attorneys proposed to the prosecutors to plead guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree and take life imprisonment as punishment for the defendant. The prosecutor refused and is determined to exact death punishment.

It is understood Cleveland alienists have refused to examine Mrs. Kaber on account of the excited nature of public opinion on the case. Alienists in New York, Chicago, and Washington have been telegraphed, but at the end of today's session Corrigan and Poulson, for the defense, were unable to say they could produce any medical testimony on Mrs. Kaber's sanity.

Mrs. Kaber will testify in her own behalf tomorrow.

GHANDI'S NAME AIDS 'CON' GAME AMONG INDIANS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] CALCUTTA, June 10.—[Correspondence.]—Using Ghandi's non-cooperative movement as a cloak to shield their designs, native sharpshooters are reaping a considerable harvest among the villages in all parts of India. Posing as agents of Ghandi they tell the country folk that the leader has ordered all poultry, eggs, etc., to be sold at once, as these "go to feed the hated English."

The penalty for disobeying Ghandi's supposed order is that the disobedient one will be turned into a stone or a snake.

The villagers, terrified by these threats, agree to sell all for practically nothing. The self-styled messengers of Ghandi offer to buy up the produce, which they do at a much reduced figure. Then they resell the goods to Europeans at high prices.

WOMAN, 79, GOES ON VISIT; RETURN MAKES MYSTERY

Several months ago Miss Julia Marsh, 79 years old and nearly blind, left Waukegan, intending to visit her brother, William Marsh, at Moscow, Idaho. She had $2,200, part of a legacy. Yesterday Mrs. Fred Zoehler, wife of the Waukegan jailer, received a wire from Rochester, Minn., which stated Miss Marsh was due to arrive in the afternoon.

When the train stopped two men placed the aged woman in the care of Mr. Zoehler, said, "Look after her; she has money in her stocking," and boarded the train.

The woman had but $13. She had not seen her brother, she said. She had been in a sanitarium. What sanitarium, and where, she could not tell. What became of the $2,200 she could not say.

100,000 handkerchiefs at 25c

Intensive reductions characterize this clearing of kerchiefs for both men and women.

For men: Plain hemstitched kerchiefs; novelties (copies of French prints); barred lawn kerchiefs, with initial or plain or colored woven border.

If your garden was a failure—don't give up, for everything that didn't bloom in your garden can be made to bloom on your mid-summer hat! The soft, light, California straws in pastel tints are covered with organdie or wool flowers. Blue bonnets and a sheaf of fox gloves in tones of pink sound like a garden—but is really a hat! The other color combinations are every bit as lovely and as charming.

A festive little side-step of fashion

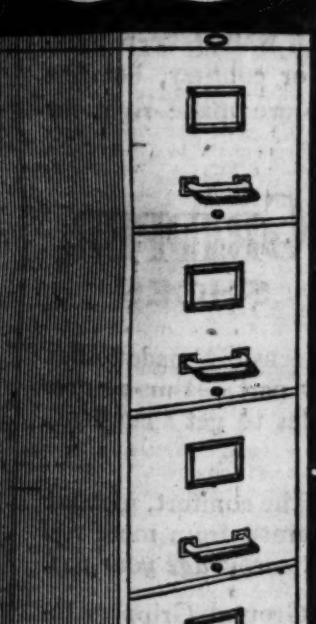

Goodie Two-Shoes has just stepped out of a Mother Goose rhyme into the very latest of Fall Footgear. Consider her swinging along some Paris boulevard, or, better still, "Boul Mich"—wearing the new French sandals. These have all the black shimmery of patent leather and the added charm of perforated toes and small flat heels—$12.50.

Browsing around the knitwear shop

One is very apt to discover the latest twist of the mode expressed in wool frocks and capes. Alpaca jumpers are thoroughly comfortable for any out-door wear and come in a soft maize, buff, black and white. "Delicious" woolly capes are here for cool nights on inland lakes and for motoring—and the new imports in sleeveless coats and frocks are enchanting.

SUNNY MISSISSIP SENDS GIFT FOR FREE ICE FUND

Southern Woman Moved by Children's Needs.

BY REV. G. A. MACWHORTER.

All the way from Jackson, Miss., comes a gift for The Tribune Free Ice fund, together with a sympathetic note that indicates a giver with a large heart.

"I hope the enclosed check," she writes, "will help the little children, whose friend you always are. My heart goes out to them at all times and in all climes."

Other gifts to the ice fund have brought it up to $1,751, but the Camp Algonquin fund still has a lead of more than $500, and we ought to keep the funds even. While you are writing that check for Camp Algonquin, just think of the thousands of poor mothers and children who will not be able to get out to the camp, and send them some ice through The Tribune Free Ice fund.

CHAUFFEUR IS DISMISSED.
William Jarchow, 825 North Ridgeway avenue, chauffeur for the Mutual Drug company, was dismissed for want of prosecution yesterday when arrested before Judge Drake on a charge of assault with an automobile. Jarchow ran down Miss Freida Stein, 1208 West 13th street.

ANYWAY LAKE REMAINS COOL AND INVITING

"Men may come and men may go, but I go on forever," is now the slogan of the hot weather man.

There is still no relief in sight, and the temperature will probably sneak up a few more notches today, according to the prophets.

While the maximum yesterday was 87, the continued high humidity made the heat uncomfortable. Without a sudden change, the forecasters expect the thermometer again to register in the 90's.

Frank Sack, 35 years old, an electrician for the telephone company, living at 1276 Ardmore avenue, dropped dead on the platform of the elevated railroad at La Salle and Van Buren streets last night. He had complained of the heat and it is thought the high temperature caused his death.

Fred Smith, 48 years old, a porter, was found dead in his room at 619 West Madison street. The body was lying near the window. The police believe he was prostrated by the heat and fell while trying to reach the window for air.

Joseph Virowski, 35 years old, 2354 South Whipple street, died in the county hospital of injuries suffered when he fell from a second story window where he was sitting to cool off because of insomnia caused by the heat.

Miss Anna Griffin, 42 years old, of 817 North Dearborn street, fell four stories to the pavement when she leaned against a fragile screen. Her fall was broken by a fire escape. She suffered internal injuries and a possible skull fracture, but may recover.

Jacob Heideimeier, 53 years old, 4152 North Albany avenue, brother of the late Police Capt. Max Heideimeier, was overcome by the heat last night while in the police department shop at 1125 South State street. He was taken to his home. Heideimeier is head of the city carpenters detailed at police shops.

Cash fare on trains will be 3.5 cents a mile, with a minimum of 10 cents. Ticket fare will be 7 cents minimum or 3 cents a mile. ## TORONTO'S HORN BLOWN FROM HARBOR DREDGES

Cost of $25,000,000
Port Project Ready.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Toronto, Ont., July 12.—Members of the Oseanographic Waterway expedition are expected when they steam into Toronto bay soon after daylight, with their heads out of the windows, got a view of the harbor improvements.

There is an inland port which in these days of the industrial slump is going full steam with a $25,000,000 harbor enterprise of broadest vision. It is ready for revival and expansion. The greater part of the work has been done at a cost of $14,000,000, and when it is completed Toronto will have a new mile of docks that will accommodate vessels of any draft from the light boats that ply the Welland canal to salt water ships.

Room for Expansion.
All the docks have a 24 foot depth and by dredging they can be deepened to 36 feet wherever the St. Lawrence ship canal is finished and the deep draft ocean craft start poking their noses up the great lakes. Unlike that of many other cities, Toronto's harbor project is divorced from politics. Here is another unique feature—99 per cent of the water frontage is owned by the municipality and eventually it will have it all, every inch. Thus the development is neither controlled nor retarded by private rail or shipping interests.

The great significant, fundamental fact in all this is that Canada is preparing for a period of great industrial development. It is going after business and factories and manufacturing plants strong; at the outset, it is putting its transportation facilities into shape.

"Bromide" Seldom Taken.
It is a "bromide" that volume of business is measured by capacity of the carriers. And here in Toronto, the city and dominion governments are trying to bring together water, rail, electric, and motor truck agencies in one comprehensive scheme.

They are striving for the utmost efficiency of transportation right now; the city is all set to go, once industry starts to revive. For the last two years the harbor commission has been engaged in new industries at the rate of one every ten days. And most of them are American plants which are putting up branch factories on this side of the boundary.

The harbor project itself is a three phase combination—transportation, industrial, and recreational features.

Progress Minus a Horn.
It was projected in 1911 when the Dominion government created the Toronto harbor commission. It has five members, three appointed by the city and two by the federal government, one of the latter being on nomination by the Toronto board of trade.

The commissioners are high grade men of affairs and they serve without compensation. When the commission in 1911 mapped out its plans for waterfront development it included the following three main ideas:

1. Adequate facilities for industrial and commercial expansion.
2. Betterment of transportation by coordinating rail and water traffic.
3. Reclamation of lands for park and recreation purposes.

Divide Cost of Work.
The cost was divided between the municipality and the dominion government.

As to progress, from the Humber river towards the main harbor, nearly four miles of park and recreation ground have been filled in. Along the inner harbor 130 acres has been reclaimed, for a warehousing and light manufacturing district, with water, rail, interurban and motor truck facilities all complete.

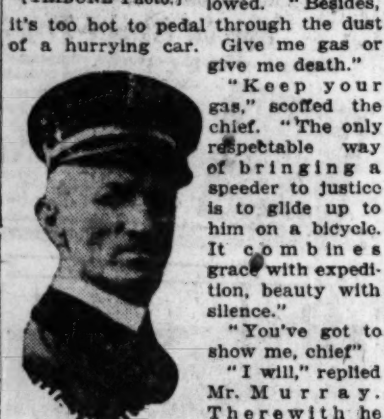

This region stretches two and a half miles out from shore, a stretch

The bike's the thing, Chief Patrick Murray of Kenilworth affirms motor-vehicles with which to chase speeding motorists. They make lots of noise and tincture the circumambient with odor and aren't genteel enough for your aristocratic suburb.

Motorcycle Cop C. G. Ley, on the other hand, deprecates bikes as a medium of pursuit.

"They're out of date," he allowed. "Besides, it's too hot to pedal through the dust."

Give me gas or give me death," "Keep your gas," scoffed the chief. "The only respectable way of bringing a speeder to justice is to glide up to him on a bicycle. It combines a grace with expedition, beauty with silence."

"You've got to show me, chief."

"I will," replied Mr. Murray. There with he vaulted to the saddle and darted away in quest of autos in a hurry. It's a great contest between motorcycles and bicycles, and Kenilworth is holding its breath pending the result.

Of concrete slips all ready for deep draft boats has been built and is ready for the back filling.

Over at the east end 700 acres has been filled in for a heavy industrial district, which eventually will embrace over 1,000 acres. The made land is being lease on twenty-one year renewable leases on the basis of rent amounting to 5 per cent a year on the cost of the improvement.

In this area, the objective of the commissioners has been created on land dragged from the lake, a district for heavy manufacturing, a mile and a half from the center of the city, and to provide here every facility of advantage to incoming industries, placing property in their hands at cost, ultimately giving service from all railroads with free interswitching, providing the advantages of water borne transportation, and leasing property with riparian rights at a rental based on 5 per cent of the cost of improvements.

RAIL BOARD CUTS 50,000 EXPRESS WORKERS' WAGES

Wages of about 50,000 American Railway Express employees will be reduced 6 cents an hour Aug. 1, under an order issued by the United States railroad labor board yesterday. The order will not affect the few hundred express company shopmen. It is estimated the pay roll saving to the company will approximate $8,000,000 yearly.

The general wage award made by the labor board in 1920 gave the express company workers an increase of 16 cents an hour. Hence, the pay cut now ordered leaves them with 10 cents an hour more than they were receiving a year ago.

Last Wage Cut Order.
Yesterday's decision, it is believed, was the last wage reduction order of importance.

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania lines, issued a statement intended to show the road is making every effort to comply with the transportation act, and with orders of the railroad labor board. The labor board Monday heard charges that the Pennsylvania had failed to negotiate with union representatives on new working rules. And to these the road officials pleaded guilty.

Continue Direct Negotiations.
The statement, issued to employees, says the company's plan for dealing directly with its workers was proposed last May, and that "results thus far accomplished prove conclusively that a large majority of employees really desire to participate in this plan."

The company's expressed determination to "continue negotiations with these representatives, who were duly elected by those who exercised their right to vote," is reiterated in Gen. Atterbury's statement.

THIRD VENIRE OF 100 CALLED FOR SOX TRIAL

Both Sides Hint at Surprise Moves.

A third venire of a hundred prospective jurors was summoned yesterday to appear before Judge Hugo M. Friend in the Criminal court, where efforts are being made to select a jury to try the cases of seven former White Sox stars and four alleged gamblers indicted in connection with the 1919 world series scandal.

The second venire was exhausted during the day, two hundred men having been examined and only four sworn in as jurors since last Wednesday. Judge Friend warned the attorneys that if matters are not speeded up he will be compelled to hold night sessions.

Lawyers Have Till.
In an effort to expedite matters the judge ordered all prospective jurors out of the courtroom so they could not hear the examination of other veniremen and thereby learn excuses so they would not have to serve. Apparently this did not help matters, as juror after juror was excused when he admitted he had read of the case, had opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the defendants or knew some one connected with the trial.

During a tilt between Attorney Henry A. Berger for the defense and Assistant State's Attorney John F. Tyrrell, Mr. Berger accused the state of keeping out of town several alleged accomplices who are expected to testify, so the defense can't find them.

Hint at Surprises.
Later while Attorney James C. O'Brien was examining a venireman, intimations were made by both sides that they had surprises in store. The venireman had said the alleged "brown" games didn't look good to him and Mr. O'Brien said he "probably would be surprised." Prosecutor Tyrrell interrupted with the remark that the defense also had a surprise coming. The judge had to step into the breach and order the examination resumed.

BY JOE DAVIS.

It is an axiom that par golf is winning golf, but in these days of speed it sometimes takes a little better than that. Two rounds of superlative play at the Westmoreland Golf club yesterday left Rudy E. Knepper of Sioux City, the Iowa state champion, and Harrison R. (Jim) Johnston of St. Paul, the Minnesota titleholder, tied for low medal honors of the twenty-third annual amateur championship of the Western Golf association.

These neighbors tied for the first place with cards of 149 for the two days of qualifying play, two strokes under par figures for the double round of the 6,504 yard course, or an average of 4 each for the thirty-six holes.

Mastery Play by "Jim." Johnston, who is not as well known as Knepper in western championship circles, looks to be a fitting successor to the famous Harry Legg, who reigned almost supreme around the Twin Cities of Gopherland for fifteen years. Jim's round of 23-37 yesterday was a mastery all around display, and he was unfortunate in pulling his midiron shot to a flower bed near the home green, incurring a penalty stroke, which eventually threw him into a tie. Johnston's card of 70 stands as a new amateur record for the eighteen holes. It is only three strokes behind the professional record.

Brilliant Work by Knepper. Knepper, who followed soon after Johnston concluded his brilliant round, reached the turn in 37, and started home with a 3, but at the second hole drove into the rough, failed to get clear on his second shot, and put his third into a trap. This netted him a burdensome 6, but the stout-hearted Hawkeye champion followed with a brilliant sequence of four 3s, these holes being, respectively, 361, 177, 359, and 210 yards.

Knepper holed a 12 foot putt on the thirteenth green, a 10 footer on the fifteenth, and a 6 footer on the sixteenth. He went one over par on the evening round, but a birdie 4 on the home green tied him with Johnston. They will play off later.

Lloyd Forced to Retire. These totals practically closed the door to the rest of the contestants, especially with the retirement of Edward R. Lloyd of the Jackson Park Golf club of Chicago. Lloyd, who led the field with a 71 on the previous day, had for a short period before the war acted in a professional capacity at the Wheaton club and at Memphis. Although he had applied for membership on a strict amateur status, it appeared that no action had been taken and consequently Lloyd could not continue.

Jimmy Manion of St. Louis, who has outgrown the featherweight class, landed in third place with 149.

Chick Evans, who was paired with Dexter Cummings, again drew a good gallery, but as he needed a 67 to tie the two leaders he faced an impossible task. However, his 74 was made in his best style, except that he was a trifle short on some of his approach putts. Chick is resting easily in fourth place, so don't worry about him.

Four Leaders Favorites. It looks as if the next champion should come from one of the four leaders, and as Johnston has landed in the lower bracket in company with Chick, Knepper looks to be the logical player to last in his half of the draw. Young Frank Godchaux, who landed in fifth place, is a halfback on the Vanderbilt university football team.

No less than thirty players hit 79 or better yesterday, and the wide geographical representation in the qualifying positions indicates the increasing strength of the game through the middle west. Chicago landed fifteen men in the championship list, St. Louis five, and Kansas City two, the rest being scattered.

Although the pairings are on the numerical principal, there are at least half a dozen matches which should be close this morning, and the afternoon rounds should be even better.

On Local Golf Links

MISS Ernestine Pearce of Skokie, Ill., who won the 240 yard second hole in the 105 women's par, led a field of 105 players yesterday at Exmoor in the three day medal play event under the auspices of the Women's Western Golf association. Miss Vera Gardiner of Glen Oak and Mrs. E. E. Harwood of Olympia Fields tied, with respective scores of 43-45-58, and 46-42-58, for second best score, while Mrs. Fred C. Lett, Jr., holder of the women's western title, followed with 47-42-59.

Mrs. John Worley of Aurora, Mrs. W. France Anderson of Indian Hill, a former champion, and Mrs. Howard Linn of Owenton, each had 90. Miss Frances Haddfield of Milwaukee finished with 91.

The surprise of the day was the 94 registered by Mrs. Melvin Jones of Exmoor, who usually leads in the medal round of most tournaments.

Three flights of sixteen each were arranged and will continue at medal play today and tomorrow. Association prizes will be given the winners and runnersup, for the best medal round of the tourney, and driving, while the Exmoor club has also contributed several trophies. Those reaching the first flight were:

Miss Pearce and Mrs. Harwood, Miss Gardiner and Mrs. Lett, Mrs. Worley and Miss Haddfield, Miss Dorothy Harbo of Midlothian and Miss Ruth Burnett of Beverly, Mrs. F. W. Douglas of Bob of Link and Mrs. Jones, Miss Carrie Kubert of Midlothian and Mrs. Howard V. O'Brien of Indian Hill, Mrs. Whitcomb and Mrs. F. W. Kuchel of Oak Park.

Hatfield, Milwaukee, and John S. Fee, Leonard, Hicks, John Calvey, Alexander Irwin, John P. Harding, and Harry Moll of Chicago.

Nothing could be more appropriate than for O. O. Carpenter to win the main prize in the tournament of the Builders' Golf association yesterday at La Grange. Mr. Carpenter, who hails from Beverly, had 19-22-71.

In the blind horse, Frank O'Donnell, Glen Oak; J. W. Snyder, Beverly, and H. Stoyer, Westmoreland, tied at 84.

FLORENCE.

The Paint, Oil, and Varnish Golf club held away at the Florence links yesterday with a low net score, eighteen holes, with a score of 81-8-73.

BLUE LAWS GIFT OF CIVILIZATION TO PACIFIC ISLES

"Harai maru." It's the motto of the South Sea isles, and it means: "Take it easy." Life, not its imitation, is the keynote of Tahitian civilization, according to Jerome Blum, Chicago artist, who, with his wife, Lucile Swan Blum, sculptress, returned yesterday to his home, 510 Oakdale avenue, after a year's sojourn among the mystic islands of "no don'ts."

Jerome Blum, the only artist for whom the Tahitian queen, Marau Taavoa, would sit, has been praised by her as "the only foreigner with the potential understanding of the native." This understanding is reflected in the twenty-five canvases Mr. Blum has brought back, which he is soon to exhibit here and in the east.

"At first," admits Mr. Blum, "it's hard for the energetic American to adjust himself to the easygoing life. No statistics, alarm clocks, or time tables. No records, schedules, or thermometers. The very ease is a challenge to his personality. If he adapts himself, the islands and their people are his. If he fails he might as well take the next boat for home."

That the islands, one of the last stands of beauty and simplicity, are being killed by a civilization posing as friend, is the fear of the returned artist, who declares:

"The Tahitian knew no shame until the coming of the missionary. Overnight the girls have grown self-conscious. They now giggle as they do their traditional dance."

"Clothes and their supposed significance have been forced upon the people. The Tahitian has become hyper-modest. He 'has shame' when he has even the smallest hole in his coat. Even the blue laws have penetrated this remote paradise. Dancing has been regulated. Recently two youths were arrested and fined 25 francs for dancing after 10 o'clock at night. "The native," says Mr. Blum, "does not envy European civilization. He passively accepts it out of courtesy. Along came a commercial traveler selling beds. The whites slept in beds. Courtesy demanded that the natives do the same. Now the Tahitian tosses on a mattress, but he is not happy."

URGES INSURANCE FOR POLICEMEN KILLED ON DUTY

Emil H. Elster, connected with the Gates Manufacturing company, in praising Detective Sergeant Edward Tuohy and Joseph Wolfe of the bureau yesterday, suggested the creation of a municipal insurance fund.

The idea is to insure the life of every policeman so that when one is killed on duty his widow and children would receive a substantial sum. At present there is no legal way of indemnifying the policeman's family.

Chief Fitzmorris believes it a good suggestion and intends to act on it in the near future, he says.

TOIL, ECONOMY, HOOVER PANACEA FOR WORLD WOES

Boston, Mass., July 12.—Recovery from economic depression in the United States as well as abroad depends upon "courage, applied intelligence, and the return to primary virtues of hard, conscientious toil and economy in living," Secretary Hoover declared here today in an address before the national shoe and leather exposition.

"There may be no recovery from these hard times for many years to come," Mr. Hoover said. "If we neglect our economic relations abroad. The hard times that knock at every cottage door came from Europe. No tariffs, no embargoes, no navies, no armies can ever defend us from these invasions. Our sole defense is the prosperity of our neighbors and our own commercial skill. The recovery of our foreign trade can march only in company with the welfare and prosperity of our customers.

"Any improvement in European production of manufactured goods will favorably affect our market for raw materials. But as to our manufactures we must get production costs down."

"It means that we must have ultimately much lower transportation rates. It means we must have better organized marketing machinery abroad under Americans. It means the establishment of adequate short time credit machinery, and much more care in foreign risks than our merchants have shown in the last twelve months."

"It means the government must remove as quickly as possible those unnecessary domestic burdens upon commerce to which the government is a party, by the reorganization of our tax system, the settlement of the tariff question, the reduction in government expenditure through the reorganization of the federal government, through reduction of armament, and through reduction of shipping board losses, and by the settlement by the government of the outstanding claims of our railways."

O to Be a Lil Fith with Juth a Lil Thenth

"MAKING THE GRADE"
Produced by First National.
Presented at Orchestra Hall.
Featuring
David Butler.

By Mae Tine.

Dunno whether the producers really intended this for a farce, but that's what it is, all right, and if you look at it as a farce it's good entertainment. About this David Butler. He's new and he's quite nice, but I don't just get the idea of his being a star all of a sudden, Peggy. Anyhow, good luck to him if he qualifies.

About the story. It's all about (three abouts) a nice (two nice) young man who is too rich for his own good. He has a dotting mother who loves him too much for his own good, and a dotting father who does the same. (Two 2's and a couple of goods. It's the hot weather.)

The dotting father (I'm making the paragraph short because it looks good, er, don't you think?) has a friend who is a general in an army bound for Siberia—or Russia or somewhere where they believe every woman should be public property, and the friend thinks that if the son, who is too rich for his own good, gets somewhere where (two somewhere) there is only vodka it may make a man of him. (That is a LONG sentence, but it is just seemed to have to be a long sentence.)

The son's mother is afraid he will marry a Russian peasant. Well, he doesn't, but he marries somebody she thinks is a Russian peasant, which is just as bad for her until she finds out her mistake. When her son comes back she weeps, but she spurs his wife. There is then nothing to do but for the son to lift heavy sacks of potatoes from one place to another in a potato factory.

This, however, seems quite a remunerative job, for he lives in a nice house on a nice street. And his dotting father comes to see them and spends many happy moments making a cradle with his own hands. Which is a song without words, for you know that some time, some place, somewhere something is going to happen—and they hope it will be a boy.

WELL, then some belovels get busy and kidnap the bride. The rich son proves that he is a man at last by rescuing her, but he has married, who is, my dears (you'd never have guessed it) none other than the daughter of the Count Alexis Somethingorotherwith!

WONDERFUL!
The picture is well acted and produced and, if I said, you regard it with twinkling eye, it is a good picture. Now I'm going to get a glass of iced tea and go home.

CLOSEUPS

The story of the latest romance of the movie world, the engagement of Rex Ingram, Metro producer, to Miss Alice Terry, Metro star, reads like one of Ingram's film love affairs. Ingram first saw Miss Terry among the extras at a Hollywood studio a year ago. Struck with her beauty, he put her in a leading role of "Hearst is Trumps."

Thus this 18 year old high school girl from Vincennes, Ind., one of the great army of girls besieging the Hollywood studios for a chance, won her opportunity to gain fame at the same time she won the heart of the famous director.

She played so well in her first role that Ingram cast her as Marguerite Laurier in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," then as Eugene Grandet in "The Conquering Power." Now, after a year in the films, she is well known as the star of her future husband's most successful productions.

Rumors of the engagement, circulated for several weeks, were confirmed yesterday in Los Angeles.

Luckily He Could Laugh.
In our town there lives a fat man. He walks with a ponderous padding tread, holding his arms from his sides and pawing the air with each turn at every step. I was standing on the street corner talking to a friend one evening when he passed, and in a spirit of mischief I mocked his funny gait behind his back. But as I followed him I entirely forgot the corner as light until I got on the wrong side of it, when my ridiculous shadow ran far ahead of the fat man and showed my every movement plain as day. I forgot, that is, until he turned around and I saw what had happened. Be it said that luckily for me he possessed the fat man's proverbial good humor.

For Her Best Beau.
After taking a few piano lessons I received my first piece. I practiced it and thought I played it well. One Saturday evening a man friend called to take me to the theater. Just before we left the house I played my new piece through for him. At the theater a man came out and announced that he was going to give several imitations, the first being of one of the players her first piece for her best beau. To my surprise he played on the piano the same piece that I had been studying, and he got off time several times. My friend was the first one to burst out laughing.

Roger, who was watching his father read a recently installed water meter, received the caution that hereafter he must be careful in the use of water.

That evening at the supper table, when the boy's mother complained that he had not washed his face before coming to the table, his eyes fairly sparkled.

"That's all right, mother," he comforted. "You won't have to send me away from the table. I'm conserving water."

There were several slices of bacon left on the platter after breakfast, and when I came out in the kitchen I found Bobby feeding them to his pup.

I said, "Why, Bob! What do you mean feeding that good 50 cent bacon to that dog?"

He looked up and said, "Well, it won't hurt him, will it, mother?"

Our next door neighbor is a doctor and a native of Greece and seems unable to master our language. Blair went over to visit the doctor quite often. Suddenly the visits stopped.

When asked why he did not want to call on the doctor any more, he replied: "O, that man talks like a baby."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I want to be the medium through which some of the most interesting and useful information that is being gathered in the city for the benefit of the needy and the unfortunate may be brought to the attention of the public. Please write to me at the address given below, and I will be glad to call anywhere in the city for anything offered us.

"The chief petty officers aboard the U. S. S. Commodore are trying to outfit their clubroom. We would be so grateful for any articles of furniture or rugs that could be spared. We will gladly call anywhere in the city for anything offered us."

I present your request, with warm wishes for its success.

"I am a man 77 years old, and crippled up with sore feet and limbs, which confine me to the house most of the time, but I think if I could get an arch support I would try to get around so that I would be able to help my wife to make our living. It may seem to be a rather strange request, but I have no money and no work. I thought some one of your many readers might have one they would like to dispose of."

A request from a person of advanced age rarely goes unanswered. Mr. L.'s address will be furnished upon request.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

R. G. DANDRUFF IS HIGHLY communicable. One member of the family may spread it among the entire family. By all means have your own brush, and demand the same private use of it as you do your tooth brush. Better send along a. a. for my pamphlet on hair care, which has a good dandruff remedy in it. It also answers the several other questions you ask about hair, which information is too long to reprint here.

R. P. HAVE A LITTLE BOTTLE of either peroxide or alcohol handy, and after opening the little wipe the irritated spot with a little absorbent cotton dipped in the antiseptic. Just open one or two at a time so as to prevent an angry looking skin.

Thousands of vacationists are flocking to Grass Lake, in Lake county, Illinois, by means of automobiles, trains, power launches, rowboats and even feet, to view the most extensive beds and largest varieties of the famous Egyptian lotus flowers in this country. Due to the high temperature this summer, the flowers, some of them two feet in diameter and with stems four feet long, are blooming three weeks ahead of the usual time.

The lotus belongs to the water lily family. The flower was held sacred in early Egypt, and was used in all religious rites. It appears in most Egyptian and Greek architecture, the Greeks having dedicated it to the nymphs.

Ulysses, the Greek hero of Troy, was reputed to have found a race, the Lotophagi, who lived on the northern coast of Africa, while he was wandering about at the mercy of the sea god Poseidon, after the siege of Troy. The fabled Lotophagi ate the lotus and lived in eternal bliss, forgetting all pain and sorrow.

Mrs. John B. Murphy, widow of Famous Surgeon, Is Dead

Mrs. John B. Murphy, widow of the famous surgeon, died yesterday morning in Mercy hospital, of which her husband served as the head for many years. Her death brought to an end a remarkable battle for life which might have been won had her strength not been sapped by the prolonged fever wave.

At her bedside when she passed away were her three daughters, Mrs. J. T. Benedict, Mrs. E. N. Hurley Jr., and Mrs. James Murdoch, and their families. A Plamondon, her brother, and Mrs. John Amberg, her sister, were also present.

Mrs. Murphy's death was the result of an illness incurred on Memorial day, when she visited the grave of her husband in Calvary cemetery. Early in June she underwent an operation for abdominal trouble and had been in a critical condition ever since.

Before her marriage in 1885 Mrs. Murphy was Miss Jeannette C. Plamondon, daughter of Ambrose Plamondon, and member of an old Chicago family. Immediately she became the young surgeon's chief lieutenant. Soon after the wedding Dr. Murphy was declared a victim of tuberculosis, but after some time spent in Colorado he recovered. A great deal of the credit for this recovery was given Mrs. Murphy.

Meanwhile Mrs. Murphy won laurels in her own right. In 1912 she was named the most beautiful woman in Chicago by Mrs. Anna L. Stacey, the artist. The following year, while attending a medical congress overseas, she was unanimously declared the most smartly dressed woman at Vichy, famous French watering place.

Mrs. Murphy was born in 1858 in New York city. She was educated in the public schools of New York city and in the Convent of the Sacred Heart, New York city.

Mrs. Murphy was married to Dr. John B. Murphy in 1885. They had three daughters: Mrs. J. T. Benedict, Mrs. E. N. Hurley Jr., and Mrs. James Murdoch.

Mrs. Murphy was a member of the St. Vincent de Paul society and the St. Vincent de Paul society.

TRIBUTE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON.

Cheese Cake.

A recent request for cheese cake recipes led to this. "Cheese cake" is a good summer dessert, and you give us a recipe? The baker's stuff is so poor the last few years. The cake is nearly as thick as the cheese in it.

That statement about the crust was the inspiration, or the calling up in part of an old idea not worked out, which was founded on the fact that the crust under a filling of cottage cheese and eggs—really a sour milk custard—looks like the soaked lower crust of a sweet milk custard. Of course, in the case of a cheese cake the crust may be baked beforehand—but here a simple experiment tried just now in my kitchen that worked out rather interestingly.

Make a popover dough and sweeten it. Prepare your cheese filling as for a cheese cake, with a rolled out pastry crust. Butter a square tin, pour in popover batter, add the cheese, try not to let it come quite out to the edge of the popover batter, and put instantly into a medium hot oven to bake half an hour.

Two eggs, one cup of milk, one cup of flour, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth cup of sugar and two eggs. It did not need cream to wet it to the right consistency, and no butter was added for further enriching it. Some candied orange peel cut fine was used in one-half, and some seedless raisins in the other, but many people prefer lemon juice for flavoring.

RAILROAD NOTES

Approval was given by the interstate commerce commission yesterday to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad to issue $4,470,000 of bonds to finance the construction of the National Service Railroad corporation in the purchase of new equipment and to guarantee a government loan of $1,568,540 to the corporation. The railroad is authorized to pledge the necessary collateral for the advance.

The commission also approved application of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad to issue $1,568,540 of bonds to finance the construction of the National Service Railroad corporation in the purchase of new equipment and to guarantee a government loan of $1,568,540 to the corporation. The railroad is authorized to pledge the necessary collateral for the advance.

Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific railroad, in a letter to stockholders has stated on the statement that there can be no general reduction of freight rates at the present time, despite widespread propaganda being carried on in favor of a general cut. He points out that even since the rates have been advanced the cost of transporting a great many commodities is far less than the toll taken by the commission merchants and retailers for buying and selling them.

The Missouri Pacific railroad has ordered for the all-American Refrigerator Transit company 100 all-steel refrigerator cars from the General American Car company.

Orders of Hahlabach Electrical Cable company and affiliated concerns have arrived to grant the company an extension until Sept. 15 for the purpose of determining a method of liquidating their indebtedness.
